NAZI PLANES FLY AID TO ITALIANS

NAZI INVASION THREAT HANGS OVER KINGDOM

CHURCHILL REPEATS WARNING; BEACHES BRISTLE GUNS

(By The Associated Press)

London, Dec. 19—Winston Churchill gave this pre-Christmas warning to the British nation today: "Watch from hour to hour the danger and menace" of German invasion.

"It would be a disaster if anyone supposed that the danger, the supreme danger, the mortal dangers, are passed," he declared to the house of commons, recessing for these wartime holidays.

"They are not! . . . the winter season offers some advantages to an invader . . . it would be a very great lack of prudence, a lack of prudence amounting to a crime, if vigilance were relaxed in our armies at home."

Only Half-Armed

The prime minister used this occasion to express hope that Britain, "still only a half-armed nation fighting a fully-armed nation," would in 1941 become well-armed, with the help of America's "great supplies," and to detail the British conquest of the Italian armies in Egypt.

"The British army," he said, "has at last had an opportunity of showing its quality."

The year 1941, he predicted, will see British troops in action "in other theaters on terms of moderate equality in numbers and in equipment, if not in defense of the British Isles themselves."

Churchill's warning was not the first of an invasion before spring; his minister for aircraft production, Lord Beaverbrook, and others have foreshadowed it.

Until after Christmas moon, tides and weather in general are favorable for such an attempt; to meet it, Britain has approximately 3,000,000 men under the colors in the United Kingdom, regulars and home guardsmen.

Letup Ominous

In particular, the prime minister noted the slackening in German air attacks in recent days—a slackening which, he said, might easily be "in preparation for some other form of activity."

Reassuringly, Churchill asserted "our defense of the beaches is complete. From the north of Scotland round the island, enormous masses of guns, machine-guns, fortified posts and every device of defense have been erected and they are guarded by large numbers of well-trained men."

Churchill was cheered repeatedly.

In Egypt and Libya, he said, the British armies, contending with odds as high as five to one, have lost fewer than 1,000 dead and wounded of all categories, compared with the figure for Italian prisoners alone of more than 30,000.

Sharing briefly the commons floor, the world war premier, David Lloyd George, called fiercely for Britain to "press on against the Italians" and said he hoped, the next time commons met, that he would be able to congratulate Churchill on "having eliminated

LITTLE MERRIE HAS CHRISTMAS

Daughter of Adrian Mich. Couple Gets Really Distinctive Name

Adrian, Mich., Dec. 19. (AP)—Merrie Christmas expects to enjoy a Merry Christmas, thank you.

Merrie (it's Miss) is the two and one half year old daughter of Mr and Mrs. Earl J. Christmas, a tiny, blue-eyed girl with curly blond hair that never seems to stay in place.

A year ago Merrie didn't know much about Christmas, the visit of Santa Claus and the other things that go to make the holiday season so pleasant for young and old.

But this year it's different as she patters about the house carefully inspecting the stickers and ribbons of each newly-delivered package. For weeks she has been talking about a dolly, a wagon and a baby carriage. And her dad has completed arrangements with St. Nick himself to pay Merrie a special visit Christmas morning. Mr. Christmas is the Michigan agent for an automobile insurance company.

Through a misunderstanding Merrie almost wasn't Merrie Christmas at all. Her name went on the birth records as Mary Christmas, which would have made her the fourth Mary Christmas in the nation. Mrs. Christmas corrected this error, going to the county clerk's office and making certain the birth record was corrected to read "Merrie."

"It may be foolish," Mrs. Christmas explained, "but if she's going to be Mary she might as well be Merrie and be distinctive."

Newfoundland Base Gets U. S. Garrison

Washington, Dec. 19 (AP)—The first garrison to be sent to any of the Atlantic bases recently acquired from Great Britain will go to Newfoundland, the war department announced late today.

The size of the force, which will leave New York early in January, was not disclosed, but the department said it would be under command of Colonel M. D. Welty, infantry officer now on temporary duty in the department.

ENGLISH WANT THREE BILLION DOLLAR ORDER

GO-AHEAD IS GIVEN FOR WAR DEALS WITH U.S.A.

Washington, Dec. 19 (AP)—Great Britain has begun negotiations, it was disclosed today, looking toward ordering $3,000,000,000 worth of arms in this country, possibly to be financed by the United States under President Roosevelt's "lease-lending" plan.

Announcement the British had been told to go ahead with negotiations on new war orders was made by Secretary Morgenthau, who said no contracts would be signed until congress could act on Mr. Roosevelt's proposal for putting aid to Britain on a new footing.

Speedup Next Step

As outlined by the president at a press conference Tuesday, this idea is for the United States to take over British orders for war materials, pay the manufacturer for their production, and lease or lend the products to Britain. When the war was over, the British would return those arms which were in good condition and replace those destroyed.

Morgenthau gave no hint as to the size of the proposed new British orders, but informed sources said the total was upward of $3,000,000,000 and included the following: About 12,000 additional warplanes, to cost $1,125,000,000, and 2,000 to 2,500 tanks, guns and ammunition to cost about $1,700,000,000. Current British contracts are understood to total about $2,500,000,000.

The treasury secretary's announcement came amid increasing indications that some steps would be taken very shortly in an effort to speed arms production.

Central Authority Favored

Stephen Early, presidential press secretary, said Mr. Roosevelt was studying five or six plans, among them a proposal for a defense "high command" headed by Secretaries Stimson and Knox and William S. Knudsen, production chief of the defense commission.

It was expected there would be some greater centralizing of authority. A reporter said he assumed the army and navy would not be deprived of their contractual powers, and Early replied he thought the assumption was well taken.

At present, the army and navy each contracts for its own needs, although all contracts are cleared through the defense commission. However, the commission has only advisory powers.

Steel Plant Expands

Among other developments bearing on defense were these:

The navy awarded contracts aggregating $52,519,897 to seven companies for plant expansion

Attacks On Mannheim Rail Center Continue

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

London, Dec. 19.—In a British campaign which informed London quarters said was intended to destroy communications between Germany and Italy, Mannheim was bombed last night and early today in the third successive nightly assault, while other pilots ranged to the south to strike at Milan and Genoa.

The attack on Mannheim—an industrially important southwestern German city which lies at the confluence of the Rhine and Neckar river and is a key junction of the river-rail routes to Italy for steel from the German Ruhr and coal from the German Saar—was officially declared to have set off many new fires amid the smoking rubble left in previous raids.

The city, said the air ministry, was under intermittent assault from early last night to the hours just before dawn today.

Among the results claimed were these: An oil receiving depot "probably" hit; a railway junction struck by an entire stick of bombs; fires left beside a railway station; direct hits on two warehouses and on industrial buildings in Ludwigshaven across the Rhine; a bomb dump struck and left erupting in a succession of brilliant explosions.

At Milan, in northern Italy, the ministry declared, "a large area" was set furiously ablaze.

A Milan factory, the docks in Genoa Italy, an airdrome in northern Italy, and with the German submarine base at Lorient, France were listed among the targets hit.

The air ministry news service identified the objective in the burning area in Milan as the Pirelli Rubber Tire Works.

Roosevelt Himself Slows Up Defense, Woodruff Charges

Washington, Dec. 19 (AP)—President Roosevelt's insistence on personally passing on all defense matters has "in part at least" been the bottleneck in the preparations for national defense, it was charged today by Representative Woodruff (R-Mich).

In a prepared statement Woodruff claimed several members of congress had warned that defense work was lagging.

"* * * Now the country is told by William Knudsen of the defense commission that our defense is at least 30 per cent behind the program," Woodruff declared.

"Whether or not it was so intended, nothing could have been more perfectly designed to produce a demand for mobilization and regimentation of business and industry than the bogging down of the program."

Looks Like Propaganda

"There are those in Washington who believe, and not without reason, that the administration was waiting for what at least appeared to be a public demand for the enactment by congress of the industrial mobilization plan, which means the setting up in peacetime in this country a complete military dictatorship.

"That demand for the adoption of the mobilization plan has come. It arose from so many different sources so suddenly as to bear a close resemblance to a preconceived propaganda program."

The president the Michigan congressman said, has hampered defense preparations in "refusing to appoint any responsible head, and insisting upon passing on all matters himself while part of the time away from Washington."

Any mobilizing plan enacted by congress, Woodruff said, "undoubtly" would include the provision of the 1939 plan to provide the act would remain in force until the president believed the period of "readjustment" had passed.

"This means, of course," he said, "that we will have a dictatorship saddled upon us until such time as the dictator himself willingly surrenders this power."

WIRE TURF TIP IS RULED LEGAL

Government Loses Move to Halt Lotteries On Horse Races

Chicago, Dec. 19, (AP)—The government's campaign to halt the flow of turf information to bookmakers suffered a setback today when Federal Judge William H. Holly quashed an indictment charging the Western Union Telegraph company and 11 individuals with conspiracy to violate the lottery laws.

Prosecutors had maintained the alleged conspirators had used the communications firm's wires for the interstate transmission of lottery prize lists—i.e., mutuel betting prices and odds.

The jurists, however, ruled the indictment did not charge a crime and handed down a decision which read in part:

"'Mutuel prices' x x x is here treated as synonomous with 'closing odds' and clearly 'closing odds' are not lists of prizes drawn or awarded by means of a lottery."

The action raised the question of whether the practice of relaying horse race information from tracks to betting rooms would be resumed with impunity, but District Attorney J. Albert Woll warned that if any persons engaged in the business hereafter they would "do it at their own peril."

The case against Western Union and the others, he added, might be taken directly to the U. S. supreme court on an appeal.

DESERT ARMY OF DUCE MAY FALL IN TRAP

RETREAT CUT OFF BY BRITISH IN LIBYA SECTOR

(By The Associated Press)

Cairo, Egypt, Dec. 19—The British brought up new troops before Bardia today for a last heavy blow in that Libyan sector, and declared officially the rear wing of the Italian army entrapped there was facing imminent capture or annihilation.

The road of Fascist exit to the west toward the important base of Tobruk—the next objective of the desert offensive and lying 80 miles west of the Egyptian frontier—was under intermitten bomb fire, and in the Mediterranean the guns of the British fleet commanded the route of retreat.

Position "Precarious"

The Italian position in the whole area was termed "precarious" by the British command.

How many Italians were cut off about Bardia was not stated officially, save that their forces were described in a British communique as "numerically superior" to the lengthening columns which had boxed them in, and were believed by some to be perhaps two divisions.

Lengthening, too, was the British list of Italian captives. Those sorted, counted and in hand as "permanent" prisoners of war numbered 31,546, said general headquarters here, and to this number will be added the "several thousand" still being brought forth from the battle areas. Total British losses—killed, wounded and missing—were officially put at less than 1,000.

Royal air force reports indicated the earlier heavy Italian flight observed toward Tobruk had thinned out. There were some indications a gradual retreat from Tobruk, similar to that from Bardia, was the Italian plan. A withdrawal toward Derna, 175 miles within Libya, had been reported by British pilots earlier in the week.

"Free French" Help

The Fascists were known to have plentiful supplies, and British military sources suggested the operation might require some time, although they expressed no doubt about the ultimate issue.

In the vanguard of troops surrounding the town were a contin-

Freight Train And Seaboard Collide; One Dead, 10 Hurt

Zephyr Hills, Fla., Dec. 19 (AP)—A seaboard air line passenger train, the Sunbeam, and an Atlantic coast line freight train collided at a right angle crossing near here early today, killing the Sunbeam's engineer and injuring 10 of the passengers and crew.

Engineer Benjamin J. Green, about 50, of Tampa, Fla., was killed in his cab and Porter Isaac George, also of Tampa, was injured seriously.

Trainmen of both railroads said they did not know what caused the accident, but believed the automatic signals had gone wrong. Normally the passenger train would have had the right of way, they said.

The other injured, none seriously hurt, were brought to Tampa and nearby Dade City hospitals. They included:

E. M. Hoisington, East Lansing, Mich.

George Casey, Lake Orion, Mich.

Mrs. Casey, his wife.

Kallio Of Finland Dies As He Quits Presidency

(By The Associated Press)

Helsinki, Finland, Dec. 19—Kyosti Kallio, who broke his health in leading Finland's lost cause against the Russians in 1939, died tonight of a heart attack in the arms of the country's greatest military leader, Baron Gustaf Mannerheim, just as he was saying farewell to Helsinki and to public life.

A few hours beforehand, Risto Ryti had been elected his successor as president, and Kallio, ill and tired at 67, had been driven to the railway station with his wife through streets ringing with the cries of Godspeed from tens of thousands. He was going home to the country.

On the platform a company of soldiers was drawn up in his honor. He faced smartly to the end of the line in the last act of what Helskini had planned as its goodbye to him.

He smiled: said "Goodbye, thanks for everything." Then he gasped, thrust a hand to his breast and tottered. Baron Mannerheim caught his sagging body.

Mrs. Kallio already was in the waiting train. A group of officers took in her husband's body, and the crowd was hushed.

Ryti, who became prime minister Dec. 1, 1939, was chosen to fill Kallio's unexpired term and now, by vote of 288 of the 300 cast in the electoral college, assumes a full term.

He is 51. He is credited with stabilizing Finland's currency and establishing her banks as among the world's most secure during his presidency of the Bank of Finland and as finance minister.

He was largely responsible, too, for Finland's regular payments on her war debt to the United States.

COLLIER IS HIT BY BATTLESHIP

Small Ship Sinks After Being Rammed By U. S. Navy's Arkansas

New York, Dec. 19, (AP)—The Navy's 28-year-old 26,100-ton battleship Arkansas, carrying 500 naval reservists, and the outbound collier Melrose, 5,148 tons, collided today off the New Jersey coast, the collier going to the bottom after a 40-mile race to a Brooklyn drydock.

The warship proceeded to its Hudson river anchorage, minus only some paint and with a smashed lifeboat.

A naval board of inquiry was called to investigate the crash, which took place off Sea Girt about 3 a. m.

Capt. George E. Tubbs of the Melrose gave this version:

"The sky was clear, the water smooth as silk. The battleship's grey paint made it difficult to see her. Before we knew it the Arkansas rammed our port side. It must have cracked our plates under water."

Capt. John L. Hall, Jr., commander of the warship, said "we all saw the boat for about 15 or 20 minutes before we had this light collision—only a glancing blow—but it could not be avoided."

The empty Melrose proceeded for drydock with the Arkansas following. Capt. Tubbs said it ran aground about half a mile from the dock and sank.

Bund Book Lists 1500 To 2,000 In U. S. Forces

Chicago, Dec. 19. (AP)—An investigator on the state's attorney's staff reported today a book seized in the Chicago headquarters of the German-American Bund indicated between 1,500 and 2,000 members were in U. S. military or naval service.

The book was examined by federal bureau of investigation agents, who did not comment and there was no definite word as to whether the men listed were now in any branch of this nation's armed forces, or had served at some previous time.

The investigator, who declined use of his name, made the statement after Sergeants Steve Leddy and Joseph Sponder of the state's attorney's police had gathered up an armload of books and records at the Bund quarters.

The raid was carried out under orders from Municipal Judge Oscar S. Caplan to expedite a search for assets of the Chicago branch of the Bund and the Teutonia Publishing company. Both are being sued in an effort to collect $380 in delinquent personal property taxes.

The officers brought back the "military membership" book, a private telephone book, four rolls of foreign scenic motion pictures and a book containing the names of midwestern members of the Bund.

The "military membership" book was reported to be written in German under a captain translated freely as "Bund members in the services" and with the men listed by name, address and rank in army, navy and marine categories. It was reported also that one column noted whether the men had ever visited Germany and showed a number who spend several years there.

FORD FRAME-UP BLAMED TO CIO

Violations of Labor Laws Denied By Management

Detroit, Dec. 19, (AP)—The federal government moved today to inquire into the dispute between the Ford Motor company and the CIO's United Auto Workers.

James F. Dewey, conciliator already here at work on other labor problems, was ordered by the labor department to investigate the Ford-CIO issue, in which the union charges discrimination.

The department's action followed a union request to President Roosevelt for intervention. Michael F. Widman, Jr., director of the UAW-CIO's Ford organizing drive, telegraphed the president that the Ford company was trying to "provoke a strike" by "open and arrogant violation of the labor laws."

Replying to UAW-CIO charges that the company dismissed men for wearing union buttons, Harry H. Bennett, Ford personnel chief, retorted today the union was making "a deliberate attempt to frame us."

Over 250 Appear In Wayne County Graft-Vice Cases

Detroit, Dec. 19, (AP)—Scores of defendants in the Wayne county graft-gambling-vice cases paraded before Circuit Judge Earl C. Pugsley today in a mass arraignment prior to trials expected to start early in January.

In the long lineup of men and women, who came before the judge in groups of ten, were former Mayor Richard W. Reading and former Prosecutor Duncan C. McCrea. All the defendants stood mute and pleas of innocent were entered for them.

Circuit Judge Homer Ferguson, as one-man grand jury, had indicted 250-odd persons on various counts. Only a few of the defendants failed to appear today, and attorneys said all probably would come to court at an early date.

Bill To Abolish Coroners Drafted

East Lansing, Dec. 19 (AP)—A bill to substitute a state-wide system of medical examiners for the traditional coroners will be presented to the 1941 legislature, Dr. Lemoyne Snyder, medico-legal adviser of the Michigan state police, said today.

He predicted the measure would have a better chance of enactment than in 1939, when a similar proposal died in committee.

Dr. Snyder asserted the bill, substantially the same as the former one, would provide for a medical examiner in each of the populous southern countries and one examiner to serve possibly two or more counties in northern Michigan.

Holland Firm Gets Army Shoe Orders

Washington, Dec. 19, (AP)—Award of 25 contracts totalling $6,102,570 for 1,840,000 pairs of service shoes was announced today by the war department. The contracts included:

Holland-Racine Shoes, Inc., Holland, Mich., 50,000 pairs, $169,000.

The national defense commission said the shoes would be delivered in the next five months, and that orders for approximately 1,500,000 additional pairs to be placed later in the winter would complete the army's shoe program through next June 30.

TROOPS TAKEN INTO ALBANIA BY AIR ROUTE

FASCISTS FREEZING TO DEATH; GREEKS TAKE 3 TOWNS

(By The Associated Press)

Struga, Yugoslavia, (At the Albanian Frontier), Dec. 19—Military sources reported tonight that fleets of German-piloted Junkers were ferrying Italian reinforcements across the Adriatic to the Albanian battlefront as Germany's aid to her hard-pressed ally.

Concurrently, Greek forces, fighting in cold so fierce that hundreds of their Fascist foemen were reported found frozen to death, were said by front dispatches to have forced Italian withdrawal from the strategic Albanian towns of Klisura, Tepeleni and Palermo.

Old Blitzkrieg Tactics

The same advices said, however, the Greeks followed their customary tactics of delaying occupation until dominating heights nearby had been mopped up, lest the Italian rearguard entrap them.

(In Athens a government spokesman said tonight the Italians had abandoned Palermo Bay, on which Porto Palermo is situated, in fleeing toward Chimara.

(The Fascist-held town of Klusura was under fire, he added, and the Italians were pushed back to the outskirts of Telelini).

The assignment of German transports to carry troops to Albania—if true—would represent an application of the now familiar blitzkrieg technique of troop movement, worked so successfully in Poland, Denmark, Norway and the low countries.

German Soldiers Coming

(A Swiss newspaper, Le Democrat of Delemont, reported "from a good source at Zurich," that commercial freight and civilian passenger traffic had been suspended on the Brenner railway line, which connects Germany and Italy, to permit passage of German divisions en route to Italy.)

The report of Junkers transports in Italy's service indicated Germany was providing only the planes and the pilots, but these were said to have gone to Italy in response to urgent pleas from Premier Mussolini. Italian Alpini made up the bulk of the air-borne reinforcements, it was understood.

The Greek drive has left only Valona and Durazzo as ports capable of handling large-scale, sea-borne reinforceemnts for the battered Fascists.

Temperature 22 Below

On Albania's peaks the temperature ranged as low as 22 below, fahrenheit. Greek sentries were ordered changed every half hour to keep them from freezing to death.

Athens dispatches quoted the British royal air force account of a "most successful" raid yesterday on Valona, in the path of the Greek coastal drive, which, despite a 20-minute air battle with Italian fighters, resulted in hits on the seaplane base, docks and warehouses.

One Italian plane was believed

LAVAL INCIDENT NOT ENDED YET

Berlin May Demand That French Government Be Reorganized

Bern, Switzerland, Dec. 19 (AP)—Fernand De Brinon, representative of the French government in German-occupied Paris, brought today to Marshal Philippe Petain in Vichy what diplomatic sources here described as "firm" Nazi demands for "radical" changes in the government's personnel.

The Vichy cabinet meeting decided during the day, these sources said, that certain cabinet changes would be made to meet the German demands.

The ousted Vice Premier Pierre Laval, they added, probably would not figure by name among the successors of those to be ousted.

However, those losing their posts are expected to include some known as Laval's political enemies.

Petain, it was said, would announce the changes in a radio speech to the nation, probably Saturday.

The British wireless, in a broadcast heard in New York by the CBS, declared De Brinon's visit to Vichy indicated "the crisis started in Vichy by the ouster of Laval is rapidly coming to a head."

De Brinon, the broadcast continued, spent six hours conferring with the cabinet, which met at the home of Pierre-Etienne Flandin, successor to Laval as foreign minister.

"The diplomatic activities surrounding the release and eventual comeback of Laval are not yet at an end," the broadcast added. "According to the Berlin correspondent of the paper La Suisse, it is quite possible that Laval may return into the government as minister of interior, that is to say he will replace one of the ministers who, according to not yet confirmed rumors, has most violently opposed his comeback."

De Tristan Baby, 3, Is Pawn In Second Extortion Failure

San Francisco, Dec. 19 (AP)—The Chronicle said tonight that Marc de Tristan, 3-year-old Hillsborough boy kidnaped only three months ago in a $100,000 ransom scheme, has again become the pawn in an extortion plot that failed.

The newspaper said the extortionist actually kept a rendezvous with federal agents and police last night and, after snatching a cigar box from the hand of one officer in the belief it contained money, escaped in the darkness of a muddy cabbage patch near Santa Rosa.

Without saying where it obtained its information, the Chronicle added that FBI agents state police and local officers were searching widely for the fugitive extortionist.

FBI agents declined to comment or give any information about any investigation such as the Chronicle reported.

The De Tristan baby, son of Count and Countess Marc de Tristan, socially prominent and wealthy residents of the exclusive Hillsborough peninsular area south of San Francisco, was safely at home, the Chronicle said.

It was near that home last September 20 that Marc, Jr., was seized from his nurse and kidnaped by Wilhelm Jakob Muhlenbroich, who was captured and sent to prison without ever obtaining the $100,000 ransom he had asked. He is in San Quentin prison.

Dickinson May Not Reorganize State's Civil Service Setup

Lansing, Dec. 19, (AP)—Governor Dickinson indicated doubts today that he would carry out proposals he organize the new state civil service commission before leaving office January 1.

"I believe I'll just let it lie now, unless something comes up," Dickinson declared.

Previously he had announced he and Governor-elect VanWagoner jointly would appoint a commission to establish the civil service constitutional amendments adopted by the voters November 5. He contended that the amendment was effective December 6 while VanWagoner, denying that such an agreement existed, held the amendment was operative January 1.

"I can see there is a question going around over the state as to whether I've got a right to make these apointments. We have had reason for putting it in the doubtful class for some time," the governor said. "I'm not over anxious to do anything to stir or mix matters."

Ports Of Ireland Are Placed Under Military Control

Dublin, Dec. 19 (AP)—The defense ministry today placed the ports of Galway and Sligo under military control, a further step in the preparedness policy.

Since July the ports of Dublin, Cork, Kingstown, Bantry Bay and Lough Swilly have been under total military direction. Special coastal defense measures have been in operation since the fall of France.

SHIP BUILDING RUSH STARTED

British Order 60 New Vessels of 9,300 Tons Each

Washington, Dec. 19, (AP)—Given a hearty "go ahead" signal by United States authorities, Great Britain tonight pushed forward with an ambitious program of cargo ship construction in this country, expected to cost at least $100,000,000 in its early stages, and perhaps many times that sum.

Informed United States officials said that as a first step 60 ships would be built by the Todd Shipbuilding and Drydock interests, 30 of them at Portland, Me., and 30 at Richmond, Calif., in the San Francisco bay area.

These ships, designed to plug some of the gaps left in the British merchant marine by Hitler's submarines, are to be 410 feet long, of 9,300 tons each, and with a speed of 10 or 11 knots. They are expected to be finished in a year or 18 months.

The sum of $50,000,000 has been made available by the British for initial work on the ships, but it was indicated they would cost much more than that, perhaps around $100,000,000.

Secretary Morgenthau disclosed today the ships will be paid for out of British funds, and thus construction will not have to wait on congressional approval of President Roosevelt's plan to build war materials with United States money and lease them to the British.

All departments of the United States government concerned have given their approval.

CRUISER TAKES LEAHY ABOARD

New Envoy to France Leaves Monday By Way of Portugal

Washington, Dec. 19 (AP)—The United States cruiser Tuscaloosa on which President Roosevelt made his recent Caribbean cruise was assigned by the chief executive today to the dramatic mission of carrying Admiral William D. Leahy part of the way to his new post as ambassador to France.

The cruiser will leave Norfolk, Va., next Monday with Admiral and Mrs. Leahy as the only passengers, taking them to Lisbon, Portugal. The ship then will return directly to Norfolk, officials said.

Leahy made the announcement of the cruiser assignment as he left the White House after conferring with the president on his new duties in France, now in the midst of political confusion over the ouster of Pierre Laval as vice premier and foreign minister.

The cruiser was put at his disposal, the admiral said, because it was desired that he reach his post as soon as possible and he could not have left on an American ship until a week later.

In informed quarters, however, it was indicated the president chose this method of showing the importance attached to Leahy's mission in France and of making a personal "goodwill" gesture to Marshal Henry Petain, head of the Vichy government.

Government Looks After Army Morals At Military Posts

Washington, Dec. 19 (AP)—Three government agencies joined forces today in a move to improve "moral conditions" and curb profiteering in the vicinity of certain army camps.

Specifically criticizing conditions in towns near Fort Benning, Ga., Secretary Stimson announced he would name a community service committee to cope with all problems affecting the army's morale and general welfare.

Selective service headquarters and the federal security administration were co-operating, Stimson disclosed, in an organized effort to improve health and sanitation, control vice, and prevent unduly high rents in areas not directly under military control.

"The army has and is getting a high type of men," Stimson told his press conference. "It is of the highest importance that military posts be in a good neighborhood or that they be bettered if conditions are not good."

and equipment to meet naval ordnance requirements. The bulk of this money was $45,000,000 for expansion of the Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation's plant at South Charleston, W. Va.

The army awarded a $3,419,860 contract to the Mack-International Truck company, Long Island City, N. Y., for tractor-trucks, and one of $571,722 to the Yellow Truck and Coach Manufacturing company, Pontiac, Mich. The number of vehicles involved and prospective delivery dates were not announced.

The navy awarded a $15,160,501 contract for airplanes to the Brewster Aeronautical Corp., Long Island City, N. Y.

At the capitol, Senator Johnson (D-Col.) proposed that the senate naval and military committees inquire jointly into the progress of national defense.

WARPLANES RELEASED

Washington, Dec. 19, (AP)—The pace of United States aid to the British has been stepped up, authoritative sources disclosed today, to the point where Britain for the time being is obtaining many times more fighting planes from American factories than the United States Army is getting.

Britain received probably 10 times as many tactical planes—bombers, pursuit ships and certain observation craft—as the Army did during November, it was said. Actual numbers were not disclosed, on the ground this was valuable military information.

Aside from the administration's policy of all aid "short of war," one of the reasons the British received such a preponderance of America's warplane production was the Army's action in exchanging current production for later model ships.

Newer Models Begun

Last spring, for instance, the Army agreed to let the British buy some of the Curtiss P-40 pursuit ships it had ordered. The Army's original order, greatly reduced, was filled by the last of October. Thus virtually all production of P-40's is now going to the British.

At the time it reduced its own order of this type plane, however, the Army placed orders with the Curtiss-Wright company for great numbers of more modern ships embodying lessons learned in the European war. Deliveries of one type of these are scheduled to start in February, of another in April.

Several other new fighter planes which the Army air corps has ordered in large numbers—among them the cannon-carrying Bell Airacobra and the two-motored Lockheed pursuit Interceptor—are just now coming into production.

SINALOA SAILS FOR ESCANABA

Wrecked Boat Floated Off Ledge At Sac Bay Yesterday

The Steamer Sinaloa, raised from the rock ledge on which it was wrecked off Sac Bay on the Garden peninsula, in a Nov. 11-12 storm, began a 22 mile journey to Escanaba at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, reports from Garden said. It had not arrived here at an early hour this morning. It was expected to make only about two miles an hour.

The coast guard cutter Hollyhock, brought here from Milwaukee to aid in salvaging the boat, went to the wreck scene late Wednesday night and was believed breaking a passage through the ice for the large freighter and the two tugs brought here to pull her.

The boat is scheduled to tie up alongside the pilings just north of the general offices of the Chicago and North Western railway and will be taken to Manitowoc shipyards for repairs later.

gent of "free French" forces and detachments of Australians.

The royal air force backed up the land and sea assault from Bardia by bombing Italian airdromes to the rear of it and protecting the British troops moving steadily across the Libyan plateau to the attack.

These operations included one of the heaviest raids of the war in the western desert. The airdrome at Benina was the target—the largest in Libya save at nearby Bengasi. It houses many Italian planes kept in reserve and at least 18 of these were destroyed by "tons" of bombs, the British announced. They attacked in waves and as the last lot left virtually the whole airdrome was declared ablaze.

the more squalid of his opponents."

BY DREW MIDDLETON

London, Dec. 18, (AP)—Amid sporadic and light air raids tonight, Britain's military chiefs soberly prepared to resist a German invasion attempt they believe might come from a half dozen points.

The recent lull in bombing, partly attributable to unfavorable weather, has not lessened anxiety of military circles who point out that one night of "Coventry" raids at a half dozen small ports like Brighton and Torquay on the channel could so disorganize them that they would be open to the landing of troops.

"Suppose," they say, "Coventry had been a seaport. What would have happened if Germany had invaded that port the following dawn?"

It is the consensus in air circles that Germany's technique now is to husband her air forces for obliterating blows against single objectives.

Must Strike Quickly

Because she still has more planes—latest estimates here of German plane production is 2,000 a month—military circles believe she must strike quickly before American help begins to balance the present disparity in air forces.

The quiet over London and the midlands was broken tonight by the return of raiders who were met by terrific anti-aircraft barrages.

The capital's "all-clear" sounded by 9:30 p. m. (3:30 p. m. EST) after flares, futile in the heavy fog, and a few bombs were dropped in one section of the city. The grounds of a nurses' home were reported hit, but no casualties resulted.

On the southeast coast, incendiaries dropped by about a dozen planes in thick weather caused some fires which were said to have been quickly put out.

Liverpool and towns in west and northwest England also reported raiders, but no bombing.

There is not much reason now to talk about loans. The time has come to talk about gifts; cash, if necessary.

Skiers Of Nation To Help Defense

New York, Dec. 19 (AP)—Civilian skiers throughout the country's snow regions will participate in national defense, the national ski patrol system announced today.

By charting trails and terrain important to military maneuvers, the skiers can be ready to act as army guides in an emergency, the system said, adding that the army had named it as the official coordinating agency.

The war department advised commanding generals that representatives of the system would aid them in technical training, selection of equipment and making plans for a program of home defense near the country's northern boundary.

Baumann, named vice president, ill continue to serve as the company's chief engineer. He will devote all of his time to the engineering, which with the company about to go into production, has become a major factor.

Was County Engineer

Betts, who formerly served as superintendent of the Menominee county road commission, will assume active charge of the company on January 1. At that time, the company will have completed most of its experimental work in which it has been engaged since its establishment here early last summer.

The remainder of the company's official personnel was re-elected at Monday's meeting, including Richard D. Smith, as vice president and production manager and W. W. Rittamel as secretary-treasurer. The four officers, along with Mayor Michael C. Olsen and Walter E. Henes, of Menominee, and A. W. Krahwinkle, the company's mechanical superintendent, who recently moved here from Knoxville, constitute the board of directors.

Expect U. S. Permit

Mercury's new training plane is nearing the final approval and it is expected that the Civil Aeronautics Authority permit will be granted early in January. CAA Flight Engineer Jack Templeton, of Chicago and Static Engineer Ray Maloy, of Kansas City completed final static tests last week and departed for their homes Monday. Templeton will return shortly after January 1 to supervise the flight tests.

As soon as the flight tests are approved, the company will be granted its ATC, (approved type certificate) the official permit to manufacture training planes for sales and production will begin. Company officials said that three planes per week can be produced with its present equipment and quarters in a Northern Hardware & Supply company warehouse in Menominee.

GREEN BAY C-C CHIEF RESIGNS

A. D. Murphy to Become Secretary At Gary, Ind.

Green Bay, Wis.—The resignation of A. D. Murphy as executive secretary of the Green Bay Association of Commerce, a post he has held about nine and one-half years, to accept a similar position with the Gary (Ind.) Chamber of Commerce was announced by him to the Press-Gazette today.

His formal resignation was made and accepted by the board of directors at a special meeting this noon at the Hotel Northland.

The board also announced the election of Oscar Bielefeldt, secretary-treasurer of the White Store, as new president of the association for the coming year to succeed J. M. Conway.

No Successor Named

No action was taken immediately by the board to name a successor to Murphy. Prior to the meeting Conway, paper mill executive and president of the Green Bay association, said that the job is open to applicants althought it will probably be a month to six weeks before anyone is appointed. A committee will be named to handle the applications and it will conduct a very thorough investigation of the character and qualifications of those seeking the position before making recommendations to the board, Conway stated.

Murphy said he is not certain when he will leave Green Bay. It is dependent partly on the wishes of the association here and somewhat on demands from his new employer. The Gary chamber is opening a membership drive Jan. 2 and it may require his services at that time although there is a possibility of returning to Green Bay for a brief period later if needed, Murphy explained. He disclosed that he applied for the position some time ago and that several applications were considered by the board before it took final action Tuesday.

Affiliation Among Longest

Murphy's affiliation with the Green Bay association is one of the longest, if not the longest, in the organization's history. He took over here in August, 1931, succeeding R. F. Malia. With the assistance of officers and directors he built the association membership from 570 in 1931 to 1,080 at the present time and income of the organization in the same period increased from about $14,000 to $29,000.

Basis for Trading

APPARENTLY there is to be a showdown as to "Who's Who", in the making of state political appointments in Michigan, immediately after the legislature convenes on Jan. 1.

Instead of calling a special session of the old state legislature, before Jan. 1, as urged by some political leaders in the state, Governor Dickinson has announced that he will send a list of his unconfirmed appointments to state boards and commissions, to the new legislature. The new legislature, convening on New Year's day, will be as preponderantly Republican in its membership as the body that retires with the close of the year and it is the position of the also retiring governor that the new senate and house may be as fully guided by his wishes as the legislature with which he has served.

The present situation has developed because of the fact that the terms of several members of various state boards and commissions have expired since the 1939 legislature adjourned and the governor made recess appointments, that would not become operative, after Jan. 1, unless confirmed by the state senate. It is the confirmation of these appointment the retiring governor will seek to enforce.

Naturally, Governor-Elect Murray D. VanWagoner will wish to have something to say about these appointments, but with a Republican controlled senate, it is not likely he will be permitted to have full sway, such as he might expect if his own party should be in full control. But the situation does offer some possibilities for some "horse trading" and if the incoming chief executive is as smart as most people give him credit for being, the foundation may be laid, at the outset of his administration for an arrangement that will result in a completely amicable settlement of patronage problem.

There can be no Republican so thoroughly party biased that he would not grant to the new governor at least a semblance of the power that lies in the hands of a state's chief executive and if the Republican party traders are as smart as the governor is reputed to be, in political matters, there will not be a great deal upon which to base sound complaint.

And the Republican party will have in Lansing one of the smartest horse traders in all the state of Michigan, in the person of Attorney General-Elect H. J. Rushton.

More for Advertising

AN annual appropriation of $200,000 for tourist advertising will be recommended by Governor-Elect Murray D. VanWagoner in his message to the 1941 legislature, according to word received from Lansing.

The annual appropriation for advertising to attract vacationists to Michigan is $100,000, which is used to match funds expended by the four resort associations. This sum, however, does not permit an extensive advertising program in the metropolitan newspapers and magazines, such as is being carried on by Florida, California, New England, and other competing vacation regions.

Mr. VanWagoner has gained a wide knowledge of the vacation travel business from his eight years of experience as state highway commissioner. As governor, it is expected he will show a keen interest in the development of the recreational industry, which is becoming of increasing importance to us who live in the Upper Peninsula.

Records show that Michigan has slipped from first to third place in the amount of money spent by vacationists in the various states. Our state has many recreational attractions that are not offered by the other states, and very likely the decline in patronage may be attributed to the inferiority of our advertising program. One need only to peruse the travel pages of the newspapers and magazines to get an idea of how other regions are surpassing Michigan with their advertising copy.

Canada's Minerals

ENGLAND'S ever-increasing demand for important metals is helping Canada to solve her unemployment problem and greatly adding to the Dominion's wealth. Although England has always looked to Canada for a major portion of her metals, the homeland is now almost dependent upon her largest dominion for these needs.

Great Britain is a large producer of coal, iron and steel and Scotland and Wales add some of these along with a limited supply of copper, but other minerals needed in industry and war are scarce. So, under England's pressure of war, Canada not only serves her as a huge bread basket, but fills a need equally as pressing—that of supplying millions of dollars' worth of metals to keep England's industrial wheels moving and her war machine up to the best possible standard.

It is fortunate for England, and vital to Canada's wealth, that the latter has extensive mineral reserves and active mines producing large quantities of gold, silver, nickel, lead, copper, tin, and zinc. The absence of a tariff on metals shipped from the Dominion to England makes the situation even more advantageous to both governments.

Canade's mining history is as engaging as its present importance to England. It is a series of chapters of expanding mineral production. In 1886 the value of Canada's mineral output was only $10,200,000, but 10 years later this amount had doubled, and the following decade saw the new figure multiplied two and one-half times. There has been a gradual increase each year since, and present war demands are expected to cause the high peak of industry to come during 1941. More than 90 per cent of Canada's output of metals is exported, England now receiving the lion's share.

The Dominion's mines are now producing about $1,000,000 in new wealth each working day. Payments for labor and supplies approximate $200,000,000 annually, while some 100,000 Canadians are employed directly and many additional thousands indirectly in mining, milling, smelting, refining and shipping the metal wealth of the country. There are other advantages, for down the mines go thousands of carloads of timber yearly, while hundreds of cars of ore come up each day, spreading work and wealth in many directions.

There is a great demand throughout the world for metals to help speed up industry and build the machines of war. In the United States there is being carried on a quiet but effective survey by experts to determine the extent of the strategic metals and the output of mines already located on well-surveyed areas. The metal markets of the world are active.

Into this great world need for metals, Canada, which is generally regarded as an agricultural country, is playing an important role, especially in supplying England with so many basic metals to aid the homeland in what can already be written as the greatest struggle in its history. And it proves the fallacy of war — one country becoming prosperous while another is devastated and its manhood destroyed.

Invasion Feared

SHARP reduction of the bombing attacks upon England this week has aroused speculation as to what new surprise is being planned by Hitler.

The English people have become so accustomed to the nightly air raids that the absence of them might have an adverse psychological effect. It is probable that Hitler wants them to conjure fears of an attempted invasion or some decisive action elsewhere. Lord Beaverbrook has warned the British people that an invasion by Hitler sometime during the winter is not to be unexpected.

Hitler does not want a long war. He is willing to sacrifice a large number of his soldiers in a short successful effort than to have the conflict drag over a period of years. He also wants to make haste before American aid to Britain becomes considerable.

To bring the war to an early conclusion, however, Hitler must strike at Great Britain's vital spots—England, Gibraltar and the Suez. When he makes these conquests, he will be in a position to take over the whole British empire and make a bid for world dictatorship.

Steady Does It

HYSTERIA accomplishes nothing. The United States, deep in its urgent rush toward defensive armament, needs grim determination and relentless energy. There is no time for groundless rumors and thin-air generalizations.

Everybody knows that the danger of sabotage is great; that there are some who would stop at nothing to halt or hamper arms production. The tightest precautions must be taken against this at every point.

But there is no good in seeing foreign agents behind every bush, either. For instance, the nation was shocked by the Kenvil, N. J., explosion Sept. 12, in which 51 workers were killed. Wise ones nodded sagely and whispered 'alien sabotage."

Now after three months' investigation, the F. B. I. reports that while the exact cause of the explosion is not known, it is convinced that sabotage was not involved. It is one more case in which it would have been wise to suspend judgment until there is something on which to base that judgment.

THE RED DEER
(Sault Ste. arie News)

The red deer is still one of Chippewa county's principal assets.

In the fall some 2,500 lower Michigan and out-state hunters come here to hunt and to spend not less than $50,000.

During the summer vacation period, countless thousands come here for rest, recreation and a glimpse of the deer in the forest.

However, a recent report from conservation headquarters indicates that conservation laws are still flaunted.

Conservation records show that 59 persons were arrested in Chippewa county for conservation law violations in November; that they paid a total of $505 in fines and spent 160 days in jail; and that in 25 cases, nearly half, the fine was suspended.

Perhaps some of this flaunting of conservation laws is due to the willingness of the chronic violator to gamble that he can either outwit the conservation officer or "beat the rap" by telling a hard luck story in court. This of course is not true in all cases of suspended sentences.

Every time a chronic violator "beats the rap" the average citizen who supports conservation laws "takes a rap." He pays while the other fellow reaps an illegal profit.

The deer belong to all the people of Michigan. The people of Michigan set up conservation laws to protect their deer, and they all have a right to enjoy hunting, taking pictures or just seeing deer in their wild habitat.

Our conservation laws, therefore, are patently the interest of all of us, and not only conservation officers and courts.

Reduced to a matter of dollars and cents, this is what the deer herd means to the people of Chippewa county and the Upper Peninsula:

Records show that some 40,000 hunt deer in the Upper Peninsula. Records also show that of these, some 25,000 are lower Michigan or out-state hunters. They spend, conservatively estimated, about $20 per person. Some put the figure as high as $50. If the $20 figure is applied to the 25,000 hunters the result is half a million dollars poured into the Upper Peninsula in November.

Chippewa county probably gets 2,500 lower Michigan and out-state hunters. At $20 per hunter, they spend $50,000 in the county.

This economic aspect of the value of deer is of interest to all of us, whether we hunt or not. It warrants strong public sentiment against flagrant violations.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY PEARSON AND ALLEN

Washington — A lot has been written about Washington lobbies, but sometimes the most potent lobby is that conducted by beautiful women. Just at present a powerful one-lady lobby is being staged by Mrs. Lionel Atwill, wife of the famous actor and ex-wife of Douglas MacArthur, former U. S. Chief of Staff.

Mrs. Atwill is promoting the appointment of Henry Fountain Ashurst, defeated Senator from Arizona, as a judge on the Court of Claims. This is a popular cause, since Ashurst is one of the most popular men in the Senate; and Mrs. Atwill in turn is one of the most popular ladies in Washington.

However, Mrs. Atwill is bucking the President of the United States, who appointed Warren Madden, former head of the Labor Relations Board, to the Court of Claims. When his name was sent to the Senate, the chivalrous Ashurst immediately asked that his colleagues confirm the appointment. But Senator Vandenberg of Michigan objected.

A lot of Democrats disagree with Vandenberg most of the time, but this time they silently applauded. The other day, however, patient Senator Barkley, Administration leader of the Senate, again asked approval of Madden's appointment, but again Vandenberg objected. Barkley pleaded with him, but the Senator from Michigan remained obdurate.

Afterward, Barkley remarked to Mrs. Atwill: "Listen, Mickey Mouse, I thought I saw two bright brown eyes up in the Senate gallery when Vandenberg objected, and I think I know who is opposing me in getting Madden confirmed."

Senator Barkley was only half right. Mrs. Atwill had been extremely active against Madden. She even helped secure 86 Senate signatures for Ashurst's appointment to the Court of Claims. But when she thanked Senator Vandenberg for his efforts, that very frank gentleman replied:

"My opposition is not entirely chivalry, Louise. I've got a big group of industrial leaders in Michigan who are bitterly opposed to Madden's decisions on the Labor Board. The last thing they want is to see him on the Court of Claims."

—FARM TRENDS—

The hearings of the special House committee investigating farm migrancy, under the chairmanship of California's kindly Representative John Tolan, deserve a lot more attention than they have received.

Leading experts have disclosed some extremely significant facts concerning agricultural trends that are affecting the lives of millions and the future of the United States. Yet Tolan has had a tough time keeping his committee going.

Lack of public interest due to the European war has played into the hands of elements who oppose doing anything drastic about the migrant problem, among them the California Chamber of Commerce and the Associated Farmers. These forces have persistently tried to block Tolan's inquiry by cutting off his funds.

Professor Paul S. Taylor of the University of Californita told the committee of three significant trends:

—BIG BUSINESS FARMING—

1. Rapid enlargement of farms under a single operator. In a survey last summer in the Middle West he found one 9,000-acre grain and livestock farm in Ohio. At the same time, 25,000 tenant farmers were unable to obtain farms.

2. Spread of farm management services for absentee owners, such as business men. Already there are several professional societies of men in this field.

3. Wholesale elimination of farm labor through mechanization, which is rapidly changing the traditional American concept of the family-sized corn belt farm.

"Our ancestors of three generations ago," Taylor warned, "found the solution for their goal of independent working farmers, secure on the land, in the land reform clauses of the Homestead Act. Today the march of mechanization and other economic forces have produced dependence and insecurity on the land for our generation. Stern necessity compels us to find our way to maintain independence and security among those who work the soil."

One solution of this problem offered the committee, by Dr. Walter E. Packard of California, was government ownership of all farm land on the same basis as forest land. "Land speculation has been a major factor in the failure of private ownership," Packard said.

Hollywood Column

Hollywood—There never has been a Hollywood Christmas season quite like this one. It's the grandest giving spree in the history of the open-handed, soft-hearted movie colony.

Picture people have been criticized in the past for their generosity in alien causes, but at this year-end there's no one to say they haven't done right by their local obligations.

First there were Spain and China, then Poland and Finland, next France and Norway, and now England. There are British Red Cross, British War Relief, Bundles for Britain, Christmas for Britain, ambulances, airplanes, bandages and blood for Britain, sanctuary in America for kidrefugees, and I don't know what else. Hollywood has been and still is responding liberally.

For awhile, some pretty sharp remarks were made about how plenty of Americans needed help, and that Hollywood itself had unprecedented relief problems.

All very true. But the economics of charity is peculiar, at least among well-to-do actors and executives and movie queens. The more they gave and the more they worked for people in unluckier lands, the more aware they became of human need wherever it existed.

COMMUNITY CHEST GIFTS INCREASE

For example, Hollywood never in the past has been wholly in accord with the Community Chest and its administration, mostly because the latter's agencies were disinclined to aid cases which possibly could be shunted to the movie industry's doorstep. This year there was no argument, and people in the studios contributed a whopping $465,708—47 per cent more than they gave to the Chest in 1939.

In about the same proportion, all the exclusively movie relief organizations have been fattened this season.

Mrs. Abraham Lehr, good, gray, Irish wife of a beloved Hebrew financier, has spread the work of her Hollywood Guild to hundreds more families and individuals than ever before. Bustling and bossy, she charges right into the offices of picture tycoons and sprints away with checks. All year long she administers a highly personalized brand of relief in shelter, food, money, jobs and job-insuring dental and medical aid.

At Christmas time she puts on full steam, gets tons of food, clothing and toys, mobilizes huge fleets of snarky limousines to deliver them. In addition, each of her 50 prominent directors is made responsible for the Christmas of one of her 50 neediest families.

I have a definite impression that the people of this country do not understand either the size or the pressing urgency of the defense undertaking.
—William L. Batt, former president, to the American Society of Mechanical Engineers.

On the reservations the army can control matters, but when the soldier leaves the camp our troubles begin.
—General George C. Marshall, chief of staff.

Anyone is a fool who plays a trick and brags about it, in public at least.
—William Allen White, explaining a speech on his part in the "Aid to England" drive.

World Affairs Reviewed

EDITORS'S NOTE—Lisbon has become one of the most unusual cities in the world, for there British, German and Italian commercial seaplanes land, exchange passengers and maintain services that ignore the war. It also has become a "city of refugees" where thousands anxiously await passage to the New World. In this story, the first of a series, Henry P. McNulty, United Press Staff correspondent, presents an intimate and graphic picture of the Lisbon he found upon his arrival there en route from New York to Zurich.
United Press Associations.

By HENRY P. McNULTY
United Press Staff Correspondent

Zurich, Switzerland (U.P.)—Recently I landed in Lisbon to find it a busy crossroad for the air traffic of the three main belligerent nations, each of which maintains regular weekly service between Lisbon and its respective capital.

Three times a week Lufthansa connects Lisbon and Berlin. British flying boats ferry passengers and mail from Lisbon to London and back twice a week, while the Italian Ola Littoria does a rush business with Rome four days a week by air.

The matter of flying boats was a delicate thing at first, for Lisbon has only one harbor and landing place for seaplanes. As all three belligerents had to use the same port, the difficulty was surmounted by having the planes arrive and leave on different days and at different hours.

At Cintra, a few miles from Lisbon where the land airport is situated, there is a door marked "British Airlines" in the administration building, but here the British no longer bring their planes. The day I was there, however, an Englishman was waiting uncomfortably to catch a German plane for Madrid.

Portugal for hundreds of years has been an ally of Great Britain. It is only natural therefore that Lisbon's harbor should be host to many British freighters trading between England and Portugal. The port being the only free gateway left to Europe, also is the shipping point for a considerable German business with South America. I met a French movie actor, bound for the Argentine, whose boat had been held up two weeks waiting for a shipment of German steel to arrive through occupied France.

Portugal is doing all it can in a ticklish position to maintain fair play. The Germans have a magazine, printed in at least three languages, which is sold arm in arm, so to speak, with an English magazine of the same caliber. Both are full of the exploits of their respective armies, both try to give the impression of being merely entertaining literature.

These magazines are distributed to dealers free, or for a nominal charge, and the dealer, being impartial, sells them both for what he can get.

All news must be sent to the censor before it is published. Newspapers must match news concerning one belligerent with similar amounts of news from the other belligerents.

There is a shortage of newsprint, and each newspaper is limited as to the number of pages it is allowed to print daily. This, combined with censorship, makes publishing somewhat difficult. The price at which papers can be sold to the public is fixed by law, so that though publishers' costs have risen, they cannot pass part of them on to their readers.

Outwardly Lisbon is a beautiful, prosperous, happy city, but behind its pastel-shaded walls and in the cafes which line its mosaic inlaid sidewalks there is a distinct atmosphere of uncertainty.

I learned a new meaning of the word "refugee" in Lisbon. People who can afford in times like these to make a trip first to Lisbon and then to the Americas are not poor. They have plenty of money, and usually have jobs waiting for them on the other side. They sit in Lisbon's many cafes drinking the best wine, eating the best food, and wait. I saw one "refugee" who would have put Diamond Jim Brady in eclipse. His fingers were covered with diamond rings the size of a dime, and his stick pin alone could have bought him a trip across the Atlantic.

The population of Lisbon has increased tremendously since the start of the war. The hotels are full, and most of the "pensions" harbor refugees who are waiting their turn to board a ship for the Western Hemisphere and safety.

Lines for Living

By Barton Rees Pogue

TOO MANY MOVES

Einstein reports that he shaves while he bathes, and uses the same soap for both operations—to use two soaps he says, complicates life too much.

Live is too complicated!
We gain, but think what we lose,
We've lost the simple methods,
There are far too many moves!

Take shaving, now, for instance—
Cup and brush and soap,
Razor and blade and clean-up,
Wash and powder and dope!

With even a new-fangled buzzer
It's attach and manipulate,
There's a brush to use, and a license
For the right to operate.

But how simply the Indian barbered —
Don't sound that lusty "humph!" —
He pulled his whiskers with pliers
And stoically murmured, "umph!"

Life is too complicated!
Push a button to do what you choose,
But keeping machines in order
Has increased our number of moves!

SEVEN QUALIFY FOR INDUCTION

Three "Limited," Seven Fall In Local Draft Examinations

The numbers of 28 Delta county young men were up yesterday for the next draft induction here, early in January, which will take 24 of them.

This is not enough, however, and the draft board will meet probably today to classify 100 more men preliminary to more physical examinations to be given possibly at the end of next week. Some of those who have passed local physical examinations may fail on the more stringent examinations given by a traveling induction board of army men.

Of the 27, seven were added in examination of 18 Class 1-A men Wednesday. Three of the 18 were designated as of "limited" availability for service and will not be called except in emergency, and seven were entirely disqualified.

Twenty-one others had been qualified in previous examinations, but one of them, Delore King, had applied for enlistment in the army and was called last week.

Up to yesterday, questionnaires had been sent to 600 of the county's 3,900 registrants.

The last 50 men to get them are:

Ernest Arthur Scheeneman, Francis Leroy Barcume, Lawrence E. Clairmont, Merle Bernard Valind, Patrick Robert Cannon, Edward Charles Hanson, Harvey Adam Dubrock, Raymond R. Tardiff, Leonard William Bryson, Lawrence Joseph Lavigne, Theodore William Breitenbach, Charles Fred Norlund, Glade Rex Coppock, John Edward Flath, Walter Edward Scott, Henry L. Jacobsen, Danville Peter Sandstrom, Delbert Urban Brick, Benjamin Gonsheski, Victor Charles Koster, Wellington Harold Lancour, Louis Peter Gasperich, Ovila Francis Groleau, Roy Henry Goldberg.

Toys to Make Some Children Happy

Men on WPA with woodworking ability are busy at a recently opened toy center at 422 Ludington street turning out hobby horses, wooden dolls, doll beds, scooters, wagons and other articles that can be bought at cost prices as gifts for indigent children, only. Mother and Dad can not go to the shop and buy them for Junior. The shop has a stock now of 18 kinds of toys, ranging in cost from six cents to nearly a dollar. The Escanaba Kiwanis club has ordered $14 worth for Christmas distribution and orders have come from three Upper Peninsula schools for nearly $40 worth. American Standards Are High - - Babson

BY ROGER W. BABSON

Philadelphia, Penn.—Our people demand more than those of any other nation on earth. Our standards of living are the highest in the world. Few of our people will go hungry over the holiday season. Wages and pay rolls are up, unemployment is decreasing. Our dollar has been devaluated, but it still buys more necessities and luxuries of life than any other currency.

A Worker's Paradise

The average American factory worker on his wage per hour can purchase approximately 7.5 pounds of bread; 1.6 pounds of butter; 2.1 pounds of beef; 35.1 pounds of potatoes; 2.6 pounds of coffee. In Germany, an average worker's hourly wage buys only 2.5 pounds of bread; 0.5 of a pound of butter; 0.9 of a pound of beef; 20.5 pounds of potatoes; 0.3 of a pound of coffee.

The American worker's wage buys 9.78 pounds of these five essential foodstuffs. The German worker can buy only 4.94 pounds. The bread, butter, beef, and coffee which is used in Germany, we would not recognize. Potatoes are potatoes the world over; but in Germany sawdust is being mixed with flour; oleomargarine is a substitute for butter; horses, dogs, cats, and foxes are legalized substitutes for beef; and chicory is the name for coffee.

Food Abundant Here

Coffee is a drug on the U. S. market. Sugar, flour, rice, and vegetables are extremely cheap. There has been a rise in the cost of meat and some canned goods. But, the average price of foodstuffs is today below the 1935-39 average and way below 1929. Rents, clothing, furniture, and fuel are slightly higher than the 1935-39 average; but only moderately so. The retail price of gasoline, on the other hand, is at its lowest in years. We, here in America, with only 6 per cent of the world's population, own 72 per cent of the world's automobiles, 49 per cent of its telephones, and 47 per cent of its radios. In the ownership of furniture, jewels, rugs, and homes, we also outstrip all other nations.

In any recent month, food prices may show a moderate rise of, say, 1 per cent or less. When compared with the corresponding month of 1939, there is either no change or prices are lower. Food costs remain slightly under the 1939-40 peak reached during June and July. This is because the surpluses of wheat, corn, pork, lard, and other commodities are still extremely large. With our export trade declining, there is little chance of reducing these stocks. For a long time to come, unless the war ends abruptly, we will have these foodstuffs to consume or to give away.

Run-Away Markets Out Of Style

Inevitably rising living costs accompany an increase in industrial production. The old law of supply and demand is still working. As the demand for housing facilities increases, so rents rise. With higher wages, people spend more for luxury goods. Even when raw materials for luxury goods are curtailed, luxury demand increases and prices of such goods necessarily rise. Facilities exist to curb rising prices except in instances where they are orderly. This is important from the Administration's point of view in connection with the Defense Program. There must be no run-away markets in either raw materials or foodstuffs.

Actual government ownership of certain commodities, as in the present case of cotton and wheat, can be used to steady prices. Large stocks of these and other dangerous inflation. Thus, attempts to raise prices can be counteracted. In the raw materials picture, much can likewise be done. In World War I the War Industries Board successfully kept down the price of copper. This was accomplished through conferences with a group of large producers. In our present situation, if producers attempted to raise prices much over present figures, the copper tariff could also be taken off.

Remember that government bonds have, to date, been purchased largely by banks and insurance companies. A drive could be put on to force individuals to buy these securities. This would put money into the federal till and keep it out of the grocery, department stores, and jewelry shops. Thus, an abnormal demand for necessity and luxury goods would dry up and prices would not run away.

Five Days To Christmas

You will not hear from me again until the Friday after Christmas. Hence, I cannot close this week's column without wishing my readers and the publishers of this paper a Very Merry Christmas. This is really no time for weighty discussions. Rather, it is a time for shopping and a time to get the household ready for Christmas Day. It will, I hope, be a Happy Christmas for wage workers and employers, for parents and children. Surely, here in America, we have much for which to be thankful. I do not have to mention what Christmas Day may bring to the people of many other lands. It is fitting that, in the midst of our own happiness and peace, we should offer a fervent prayer that they, too, may soon again celebrate Christmas as the Prince of Peace would wish.

Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Olaf Pearson were most agreeably surprised Saturday evening when about thirty five of their relatives and friends came to their home to remind them that they'd been married twenty-five years.

The party was arranged by Mrs. Peter Pearson, sister-in-law of the couple, of Escanaba and Mrs. Stone Anderson. Miss Lena Thuneberg and Olaf Pearson were married in Gladstone Dec. 11, 1915 by Rev. J. A. Forslund, pastor of the First Lutheran church. The couple lived ten years in Ensign, the past fifteen years they have been residents of Rapid River. Mr. Pearson is a cabinet-maker and maintains a shop at his home, also works in the shop of Anderson Bros.

The evening was spent in playing games with prizes going to Mrs. Harry Johnson, Mrs. George Anderson, and Mrs. Nels Pearson. The guests had planned to have a mock wedding program but as several of the participants were taken sick that plan had to be abandoned. At midnight a lovely lunch was served, everything prepared by the guests. The table was resplendent with two large bouquets of pink and white chrisanthemums, a large wedding cake decorated in pink and green, a novel centerpiece graced the table, being a small Christmas tree, the standard covered with silver paper, the tree decorated in silver icicles and from the branches hung silver pieces of money, dollars, halves, and quarters, gifts of the guests.

Out of town guests present were Carl Thuneberg and son Hilding of Iron Mountain, Mr. and Mrs. Gus Larson, and Mr. and Mrs. Henning Erickson of Manistique, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Pearson of Escanaba, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Kellerson, Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Swanson and daughter Gloria of Gladstone.

The local schools will close Friday with the grades presenting their own Christmas program in their respective rooms. The high school program will be held in the gym. The Michigan Music project under the direction of Cecil Collins will present a complete musical program, there will also be group singing. After the program gifts will be distributed among the students. Names for which were drawn at school by the students. Teachers will leave for their homes, K. Hoyer going to Ashland, Wis., C. Blieck will go to Appleton, Wis., Mary Jean Campbell to Menominee, Eleanore Ropelle, to Norway, Delima Scheer and Loretta McCarthy to Escanaba the remaining members will spend the Christmas in town.

What Does Boss Think? This Might Help You

It's a little complex, but if you want to know about how well you're doing your job and what the boss may think of you, you can figure it out pretty well, perhaps, from a schedule devised for rating city employes under Civil Service.

Supervisors and all employes will have copies of the rating sheet. Supervisors, who will be required to grade their help, already have received sheets so that they can study just what their duties will be in the grading process.

From Good to Bad

Applying to all employes are four general questionnaires, with five gradings possible, as follows:

Promptness in reporting for work—Nearly always late; often tardy; usually on time; on time more than average and rarely, if ever, late.

Knowledge of work—Thoroughly familiar with all phases of work; well-informed, has mastered most details; adequate knowledge, knows job fairly well; limited knowledge of job; inadequate comprehension of work.

Work attitude — Complains or acts unconcerned; sometimes indifferent, goes about his work half-heartedly; average interest, likes most phases of his job; definite interest in work; enthusiastic, whole-hearted active interest.

Initiative — Seeks and sets for himself additional tasks; resourceful, completes suggested supplementary work; reasonably alert to opportunities; a routine worker, usually wants to be told; needs frequent direction or prodding.

But the grading goes further for some employes in more responsible places. With five grades possible under each heading, they will be checked on:

Some Smile, Some Don't

Capacity to develop—From "Has very little future growth, has about reached his limit" to "Great latent possibilities."

Attitude toward other employes—From "An unusual and strong force for group morale" to "Surly, touchy or quarrelsome, does not co-operate."

Ability to understand directions—From "Carries out only the simplest directions without help" to "Requests additional information on only most complex orders."

Quality of work—From "Work usually well done, practically no errors" to "Poor work, frequent errors, unsatisfactory."

Then some will be graded on the volume of work they do—where that question is important—and others who contact the public will be graded on public relations aptitude, from "Exceptionally courteous and well mannered" to "Surly, touchy or quarrelsome, antagonizes others," and on appearance, from "Usually unkempt, slovenly or careless" to "Takes genuine pride in his appearance."

Some in supervisory jobs will be graded in one of five classes on their supervisory abilities.

Then, to sum it all up, each employe will be graded in one of five groups from: "An exceptional employe; one of the best in his line of work that you have ever known," down to "Definitely unsuited to this organization, or at least to the work he is doing."

If you can land a first place rating in each of these departments, you ought to be doing all right. But you probably don't for the civil service experts who devised the rating sheet remind that very few employes are properly described by either the highest or lowest traits in any department.

And they point out also that most workers figure they're doing all right—even some who just simply aren't.

DEFENSE JOBS MAY HELP WPA

Workers List Abilities; May Be Called to War Industry

Questionnaires being answered by Delta county and other WPA employes in a survey to be finished by January 1 will indicate which men can be available for what sort of work in national defense industries—and it may mean regular jobs and more money for some who have not had private jobs for years.

The men are filling out Form No. 450, listing their abilities, whether as carpenters, auto mechanics, machinists or otherwise. The 1,500 forms from Delta county are to be in Marquette district WPA headquarters by January 1.

A permanent file of the workers and their abilities will be kept at Marquette and when need arises for workers in various defense industries the files will be checked to find the right men for the places.

Records of abilities, experience, education, skills and aptitudes of WPA workers have not been kept before, since in WPA work, these factors were not important.

Project time-keepers are gathering questionnaires from men under them and turning them over to J. H. Stephens, area finance officer for Delta and Menominee counties.

SMALL INDUSTRY THRIVES

Houghton — The Household Chemical company, Calumet's new small industry, is making excellent progress since it was started here in September after coming to this district from Detroit. The cleanser product turned out by the firm is gradually finding its way into hundreds of homes in the Copper Country and adjacent areas, as well as Detroit.

Joseph Jordan, owner and operator of the local plant, which is located on North Fifth street in the quarters formerly occupied by the G. T. Murphy Motor Co., returned several days ago from a trip to Pittsburgh and Detroit, where he transacted business in behalf of the firm and he reports success in several new ideas relative to the production and distribution of the Household Chemical cleanser, which is also used as a deodorizer and disinfectant.

Another large load of the local product left Calumet Saturday evening for the Detroit area and stores in this district are being serviced regularly.

TIGHTER GUN LAW WANTED

Conservation Officials Will Ask for New Legislation

The state conservation department wants Michigan's gun laws tightened.

The department will ask the approaching session of the legislature to amend the law so that rifles or shotguns may be carried in cars only if taken down or in a case.

At present the law prohibits the carrying of loaded guns in cars but this is not stringent enough to prevent widespread "road hunting" in the opinion of H. P. Sayre, chief of the department's law enforcement staff.

Many violators ride along roads in game areas with unloaded guns in their cars but carry shells in one hand and the gun in the other, Sayre declares. When game is sighted it is only a matter of seconds to slip the shells into the gun. If no other car is in sight the hunter may shoot from his open car window. If he fears detection he steps out of the car and shoots before the game has a chance to take alarm.

Tried Once Before

Sayre believes a regulation requiring guns to be cased or taken down when carried in a car would go a long way to stop this type of violation. The department asked such a change in the last legislature, but the proposal was turned down. A more vigorous effort will be made at this session.

Sayre says road hunting is not confined to any one kind of game. Grouse and pheesants are widely hunted in this manner, as well as deer, the department's records reveal.

A surprise blockade of highways in deer season, which resulted in 76 arrests in one afternoon, turned up a number of hunters carrying loaded rifles in homebound cars, Sayre reports. He believes they had kept the guns loaded in the hope of seeing deer while on their way out of the woods

BALK AT SALUTE

Sault Ste. Marie—Problem of five students in Sault Ste. Marie schools who because of religious beliefs refuse to salute the flag during regular morning pledge of allegiance services in Sault schools, is being studied by the board of education and Foss Elwyn, superintendent of schools.

An effort to reach a compromise with the students, such as has been reached in other Michigan schools, like Rochester where 15 students refused to salute the flag, was suggested by Mr. Elwyn.

At Rochester, he said, the students agreed to pledge allegiance to the United States, if the word "flag" were left out of the pledge. The students, who profess to belong to Jehovah's Witnesses, may not pledge allegiance to the flag, as it is considered a "graven image" and it is against their belief to profess faith in a "graven image."

Mr. Elwyn said it is his belief that none of the students is unpatriotic, and in interviews with him they have agreed to sign a pledge that they would do nothing to harm or destroy the constitution or government of the United States.

Council Adopts Civil Service Salary Rates

Recommendations of the city Civil Service commission on salaries and wages for city employes were adopted at a meeting of the city council last night, to be effective January 1.

A set of rules to govern the service, also submitted for adoption, was held over for later action, although approval was indicated. When this is passed, the city will be operating fully and officially under civil service.

$964.80 More Per Year

The conpensation plan sets minimum and maximum pay for 125 employes in 40 classifications of jobs. It is subject to change as conditions warrant, and the service commission in a letter to the council said: "The commission will closely watch and study the cost of living in Escanaba. In the event the cost of living advances so that the present salary schedules are out of line we will recommend to the council the increasing of schedules to meet rising living costs."

The commission also recommended that employes now working for pay below the minimums set in the schedule should be brought up to the minimum immediately.

For the 125 employes, however, the city will spend just $964.80 more per year to bring all salaries up to the minimum.

Chiefly affected are four fire captains, who will get a combined total of $35 more per month than at present, or $8.75 per month each, calling for an increase in the city budget of $420 per year, and five "principal clerks" who will get a combined monthly increase of $30 or $6 per month each, for an increase of $360 in the city budget.

Fourteen firemen will get a total raise of $60 a year; two automotive equipment repairmen will get a total yearly raise of $62.40 and the pay of three and a half labor foremen (one not working full time) will be increased a total of $62.40 a year.

In the "fire series" salary schedule, firemen's pay is set at from $100 to $120; fire captains at $125 to $150 and the fire chief's at $155 to $185. The police series sets patrolmen's salaries at from $100 to $127.50; police sergeants' at $130 to $150 and the chief's at from $160 to $190.

Salary Ranges Listed

The largest series is the utilities, with 18 workers in it. Four sanitary operators have salaries set at from $100 to $135; seven firemen-operators, at $90 to $125; five utilities service men at $90 to $125; one utilities service foreman at $135 to $160 and one utilities distribution foreman at $135 to $160.

In the clerical series, with 15 employes, junior clerk salaries are set at from $70 to $90; senior clerk salaries at $95 to $115, and principal clerk, at $120 to $145. In the accounting and fiscal series salary ranges are set at $80 to $105 for account clerks; $170 to $210 for city controller and $160 to $200 for city treasurer.

In the electrical distribution series, salaries are set at $90 to $110 for lineman helpers; $115 to $135 for linemen; 140 to $165 for line foremen and $170 to $210 for superintendent of the electrical department.

In the labor series, laborers may get $80 to $95, labor foremen, $100 to $115 and harbor construction foremen, $125 to $145.

Truck drivers may receive $90 to $110.

Schedules for various department heads are set at: $140 to $170 for street superintendent; $160 to $190 for director of parks and recreation; $170 to $210 for superintendent of the sewage disposal plant; $170 to $210 for superintendent of the water department and $135 to $165 for chief pumping station engineer.

Raises within a classification are determined by ratings to be made semi-annually by department heads on a scientific and uniform scale for every employe.

Changes from one classification to another are possible through civil service examinations.

The rules are detailed regulations defining an employe's rights and privileges under the civil service system and have been accepted by the employes, it was reported.

An anticipated protest against a proposal for location of a radio station on city property at Sand Point did not materialize. The matter was reported being negotiated otherwise.

Delinquent personal taxes amounting to $12,000, owed mostly by business houses, was reported by City Manager George E. Bean. He said the city will take drastic measues to collect these in January and received council approval of the plan, which he said might have to involve confiscation of property.

The manager also reported objections from business men not on Ludington street against what they called slighting in the city snow removal program. The council discussed costs briefly and laid the question over.

It's Easy to Select A Christmas Tree That Holds Needles

If your Christmas tree shed its needles early last winter, you probably had the wrong kind of tree.

All trees will drop their leaves after they are cut and stored in a warm room, but some kinds hold their leaves far longer than others. Trees used most commonly on Christmas are the spruces, fir, hemlock, pine and redcedars.

Spruces are the least desirable of all evergreens because they are the first to shed their needles. A spruce can be identified by grasping a branch tightly, as its sharp pointed needles will prick your hand.

The ideal Christmas tree is the fir. It resembles the spruce except that its needles are not sharp. The needles stay on the tree for a long time, and become a golden brown before they finally drop. Needles of a Douglas fir are flat and soft to the touch. This popular tree can be recognized by examining the cones which have small appendages on each side.

Hemlocks tend to shed their foliage early when kept indoors at a warm temperature. The diseinguishing feature of this tree is the two white lines on the lower side of each of its needle-like narrow leaves.

Pines have never been very popular as Christmas trees, in spite of the fact they do not shed their needles early. This is probably due to their unsymmetrical appearance, which does not clesely resemble the conventional Christmas tree. Their longer needles are associated in clusters of three or five.

Redcedars are occasionally used as Christmas trees in neighborhoods where they grow wild. The foliage is tiny and scalelike, and is prickly to the touch. It grows berries instead of cones.

No matter what kind of Christmas tree you select, it will hold its needles longer if it is standing in water. Place a little water in the base of your Christmas tree stand, and you will be bothered less with falling needles than you were last year.

Surprises Trim Up Holiday Menu

BY LOUISE BENNETT WEAVER
(AP Feature Service Writer)

To make dinner one of the big moments on Christmas Day, you have to go rather strong on the traditional foods. But that doesn't mean you can't have surprises on your menu.

You might ring in Bell Appetizer for the first course. It can be made up in advance. Cut canned pear halves into bell shapes, with scissors. Stuff with crushed pineapple mixed with finely-chopped celery and salad dressing. Place with suffed sides down on cress or lettuce. Arrange red gum drop clappers and bows. Have these on the table when dinner is announced. Pass twisted cheese sticks, tiny hot cheese biscuits or toasted crackers spread lightly with minced parsley and butter.

Tomato juice spiked lightly with cloves and lemon juice and served piping gives a gay first course, easy to make and to serve. With this go toasted rolled cheese sandwiches, shrimp canapes or minced sardines, seasoned with chopped pickles and mayonnaise and spread on crisp wafers. All of these are best served hot.

Just in time for Christmas comes this new stuffing idea, fitting for turkey, goose, duck or chicken. Omit 2 cups of bread crumbs called for in your favorite recipe and in their place add 1½ cups boiled wild rice, ½ cup walnut meats, 1-3 cup crumbled cooked bacon and ¼ cup chopped pimento.

MUSHROOM DRESSING

2 loaves two-day old bread
½ to 1 pound butter
4 ounce canned sliced mushrooms
¼ teaspoon white pepper
¼ cup minced onion
1 teaspoon salt

Remove crusts from bread and cut into cubes. Put bread cubes into large mixing bowl and add butter. Drain canned sliced mushrooms from liquid and brown slowly in one tablespoon of the butter; add to bread and diced butter in mixing bowl. Add seasonings and minced onion. Toss all together, using two forks or hands, until ingredients are well blended. Enough for 12 to 15 pound turkey.

Now for the vegetables. Combine green beans and carrot slices for Christmas colors. You also can stuff parboiled onions or turnips with mashed chestnuts, and stick in parsley or cress for gayety. Acorn (sometimes called Des Moines) squash makes delightful containers for seasoned corn. Bake the squash first and then lightly stuff with the other vegetables and reheat for 10 minutes in a moderate oven.

A carrot, pea or spinach ring filled with creamed onions, turnips or egg plant makes one passing do for two vegetables. Sweet potato souffle garnished with spiced apricots keeps hot and simplifies serving. Substitute this for the usual candied sweets. Broccoli outlined by lima beans and beet balls offers the traditional season colors. Pour hot melted butter and seasonings over the vegetables when arranged on the platter.

Here comes the dessert masterpiece. It's a gelatin mold, and can be made up a day ahead. Soak 2 tablespoons granulated gelatin for five minutes in 2-3 cup cold water. Mix into 2 cups milk, 2-3 cup light brown sugar, ½ teaspoon salt and a cup each of chopped dates and nuts which cooked 10 minutes in a double boiler.

Thoroughly blend all the ingredients and chill. When partly thick, fold in 4 beaten egg whites, 2 teaspoons vanilla, 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind, 1-3 cup chopped candied fruit peel, and 2-3 cup shredded toasted almonds. Mold this desert as you loke, or pour into a shallow pan and when stiff cut into animal and fancy figures with cooky cutters. You may prefer to shape the mixture into a bell, star or wreath.

Use Olives When You Want To Try New Menu Twists

BY MRS. GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Service Staff Writer

To give a familiar recipe a newer aspect, open a bottle of olives, either green, stuffed or ripe, and use them as one of the ingredients. The molded tongue given below uses sliced stuffed green olives in the recipes, and large ripe olives for effective garnish. It's the perfect dish for Sunday night supper.

MOLDED TONGUE AND VEGETABLE SALAD
(Six to eight servings)

Two tablespoons gelatin, ½ cup cold water, 1 cup boiling water, 2 teaspoons grated onion, 1 tablespoon drained, bottled horseradish, 2 tablespoons prepared mustard, ½ cup mayonnaise, 4-ounce bottle stuffed olives, sliced; 2 cups diced, cooked, smoked tongue; ½ cup diced, cooked carrots; ½ cup diced, cooked green beans; ½ cup diced cucumber, ½ cup diced celery.

Soften gelatin in cold water 5 minutes. Add boiling water and stir until gelatin is dissolved. Add onion and horseradish. Chill until slightly thickened. Add mustard and mayonnaise. Blend with rotary beater. Pour thin layer into well-oiled loaf pan. Chill until almost firm.

On this arrange some of the olive slices in a design. Anchor by pressing slices into jellied layer. Chill until just firm. Add remaining olives, tongue, and vegetables to remaining gelatin mixture. Add salt and pepper if necessary. Carefully pour over jellied layer. Chill until firm. Unmold and garnish with large, ripe olives.

TUNA AND OLIVE CASSEROLE

Play Portrays True Spirit Of Christmas Time

"Why the Chimes Rang," the one-act play being given by the Escanaba Civic Theatre, Sunday, Dec. 22, at 2:30 p. m. in the William W. Oliver Auditorium, gives the weary shopper and the harried housewife an opportunity to spend a quiet, reverent hour in contemplation of the real spirit behind the Christmas observance. The story is of a boy who learns the meaning of the "perfect gift" through a vision which comes to him at his moment of greatest disappointment. The play combines story, pageant and music with effective results.

Jolly Cakes for Gifts

Easy-to-make jolly peanut mocha layer cake for a surprise gift.

BY MRS. GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Service Staff Writer

There isn't a grandmother (or for that matter an aunt or uncle) in the land who wouldn't be delighted to receive a jolly cake on Christmas morning from her favorite granddaughter. Make sanity, participation and competence in living the background of this year's Christmas spirit. Encourage your 'teen-age daughters to make presents in the kitchen.

The giddy peanut mocha cake given below will add jollity and substance to anyone's Christmas. Make the peanut men and animals to decorate it out of whole unshelled peanuts. Use sections of pipe cleaners for arms and legs and spots of ink for eyes and mouth. Scatter halves of roasted peanuts over the mocha frosting. Santa Claus could have no finer gift to leave behind on Christmas morning.

For the two-layer cake, use this excellent recipe. It is suggested by Lucy Maltby, a noted American teacher of 'teen-age cooks.

CAKE RECIPE
(Two 9-inch Layers)

Two cups cake flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, 2-3 cup butter or other shortening, 1 cup sugar, 3 eggs, separated, ½ cup milk, 1 teaspoon vanilla extract.

Sift flour once, then measure. Sift together the flour, baking powder, and salt. In another bowl have butter at room temperature; then mix butter and sugar together with a spoon until light and fluffy. Separate egg yolks from white. Beat egg yolks and add to butter mixture. Then add about a third of the flour and then a third of the milk. Beat well after each addition and continue adding a little flour and then a little milk until all flour and milk are mixed in and the batter is smooth. Add vanilla and lightly stir in the stiffly beaten egg whites. Have egg whites at room temperature when beating. Bake in two well greased layer cake pans. Bake about 30 minutes in a moderately hot oven (375 degrees F.)

PEANUT MOCHA FROSTING

One tablespoon strong coffee, 2 tablespoons peanut butter, ½ cup sweetened condensed milk, 1½ cups sifted confectioner's sugar.

Mix sugar, peanut butter and condensed milk. Gradually add confectioner's sugar. Beat until smooth and creamy. Spread on cold cake. Sprinkle top with peanuts. Place peanut men and animals around edge of plate.

Individual Candle Cakes make delightful Christmas gifts, too. Use the same cake recipe as given above, but bake the batter in small well greased custard cups. Cover top and sides with glistening white boiled icing and sprinkle with shredded cocoanut.

In the center of each brilliant little cake, place a green candle holder and a tiny red candle.

PEACH CONSERVE

One pound dried, skinned peaches, 1 quart cold water, 1 cup seeded raisins, 1 pound sugar, juice of 1 lemon, juice of 1 orange, 1 whole orange, 1 cup chopped walnut kernels.

Add cold water to peaches, cover and let stand overnight. Add raisins, fruit juices, orange cut in thin slices (remove seeds) and sugar. Bring to boiling point and boil rapidly until thick and fruit is clear, stirring occasionally to prevent burning. Add nut meats, cut in pieces. Pour into hot, sterilized jars or in glasses. Seal immediately with paraffin.

Sweet Potato Biscuits

1¼ cups flour
4 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
1 tablespon granulated sugar
3-4 cup mashed sweet potatoes (cold)
2-3 cup milk
4 tablespoons butter, melted

Mix together the flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. Add the rest of the ingredients, mixed together Toss the soft dough onto a floured board and knead for a minute. Pat out the dough until half an inch thick. Cut out biscuits. Arrange on a greased baking pan and bake 15 minutes in a moderately hot oven—about 425 degrees

HONEY DATE NUT BREAD

Two cups white flour, 1 cup graham flour, 1 teaspon soda, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 1 beaten egg, 1 tablespoon melted butter, 1 cup chopped dates, ½ cup honey (or 2-3 cup sugar).

Sift together flours, salt and baking powder. Mix honey and melted butter. Dissolve the soda in the sour milk. Add the honey and butter mixture to the beaten egg then the sour milk and soda. Stir in sifted flour mixture, then add chopped dates and nuts. Bake for 1 to 1½ hours in a moderate oven (375 degrees F.). About five minutes before removing from oven, brush the top with honey.

TANGERINE FRUIT PASTE

(2½ lbs.)

Three-quarter cup unpeeled tangerines, ½ cup orange juice, 2½ cups apple sauce or stewed fresh or dried apricots or peaches, ½ cup liquid pectin, ½ cup light corn syrup, 2 cups sugar.

Cook tangerines, orange juice and cooked fruit for 20 minutes, stirring often. Use large kettle, preferably gallon size. Add pectin, corn syrup and sugar. Cook 15 to 20 minutes longer, stirring constantly. When mixture is consistency of a thick preserve, pour 1 inch deep into a shallow pan. When cold, cut into squares or other desired shapes.

Modern transport passenger planes use enough electric power to supply the needs of a row of houses. The Douglas DC-3, a typical transport plane of today, uses 15 kilowatts, with 73 per cent of that figure used for navigation purposes.

ORANGE MARMALADE

Three cups thinly sliced, unpeeled oranges, 3 cups thinly sliced, unpeeled lemons, 18 cups water sugar.

Combine fruit and water and let stand 24 hours. Boil 10 minutes, and again let stand for 24 hours Divide the mixture and cook only 2 cups of it at a time. Add 2 cups sugar for each 2 cups of fruit. Boil vigorously until syrup Give the jelly test of thick reluctant drops which sheet together from a spoon. The time may vary from 12 to 18 minutes. When a wide kettle is used and evaporation is rapid the shorter cooking time will suffice. Cook a few minutes and stir to prevent fruit from floating. Pour into hot sterilized jelly glasses. Seal immediately with paraffin.

One-half cup butter, 1 cup light brown sugar, 1 well-beaten egg, ½ cup evaporated milk, 1½ teaspoon vinegar, 2 cups bread flour, ½ teaspoon soda, ¼ teaspoon salt, ½ cup nuts, ½ cup raisins, 1 teaspoon lemon extract.

LAND IS DEEDED TO COAST GUARD

Menominee May Be Site Of New Base on Green Bay

Menominee may be the home of Green bay's newest Coast Guard station early next year if plans of U. S. Coast Guard officials are carried out and the new congress, which convenes in January, appropriates funds to construct the station.

The Milwaukee Road has deeded a strip of property to the Treasury Department, U. S. Coast Guard, near the Ann Arbor Railroad carferry slip, footing on Green bay and running 464 feet north of the lighthouse pier.

The strip of property was deeded to the government on October 30, 1940, but the deal was not completed until this week when the Menominee Abstract & Land company finished the abstract on the property and sent it to Washington with the deed.

"It was the most complete abstract ever handled by this company," George W. Haggerson, president, said. "There are 141 transactions in the abstract that dates from 1838 when the government leased a piece of land to Alexander McLeod, a strip one mile wide on each side of the Menominee river and extending four miles up the river for mill sites. McLeod gave his rights to William Farnsworth and William Brush late in 1838. The abstract required by the government has not only complete history of each transaction but also maps, drawings and plats."

The site is one of three inspected by the U. S. Coast Guard in a survey several years ago. The others were inside of the yacht basin and on the Menominee river in the Hoskin Paper company yard.

WHOLE-WHEAT PECAN BREAD

One and one-half cups sifted white flour, 1½ cups sifted whole wheat flour, 1 cup brown sugar, 3 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 egg, 1 cup milk, 3 tablespoons melted shortening, 1 cup chopped pecans.

Sift dry ingredients together. Add nuts. Add blended egg, milk and melted shortening and mix just to moisten. Pour into greased loaf pan and let stand for 20 to 30 minutes at room temperature. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 45 minutes. Remove from pan, cool and wrap.

BOSTON BROWN BREAD
(1 Loaf)

Two cups sour milk, 1 cup molasses, 2 cups corn meal, 1 cup whole wheat flour, 1½ teaspoons baking soda, ½ teaspoon salt.

Mix sour milk and molasses together. Add corn meal and mix well. Sift together the flour, soda and salt. Add and beat thoroughly. Pour into a well buttered, steaming mold or a large-sized baking powder tin. Place in boiling water and boil for three hours in a tightly covered sauce pan.

CANNED GOODS SHOW PLANNED

Movie for Tots Monday; Legion to Give Out Candy

The Rialto theatre will sponsor its annual Christmas show for children of this community on Monday morning at 10 o'clock, it was announced yesterday by John Vogt, manager.

August Mattson Post, American Legion, will have its annual candy party for children in conjunction with the show and every child attending will receive a bag of candy and nuts as they leave the theatre.

Unlike other years when any article of foodstuffs was accepted as the "admission fee," this year only canned goods is being accepted. Anything in a can, beans, corn, peas, milk, fruits or soups may be used and any size can is acceptable.

A program appropriate for juvenile audiences has been arranged for the show. It includes two Our Gang comedies, "Alfalfa's Aunt" and "Football Romeo," Edgar Kennedy in "Maid to Order," the Three Stooges in "A Ducking They Go" and two cartoons, "Hollywood Sweepstakes" and "Fishing Bear."

The party is for all children of school age.

"Proceeds" from the show will be turned over to local charitable organizations for distribution.

Social

Christmas Social

The Luther league of Bethany Lutheran church, Perkins, will hold a Christmas social at the church this evening at 8 o'clock.

Christmas Party

The members of the Co-op club were entertained at their annual Christmas party on Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Theodore Erickson, North 10th street.

Cards were played during the evening, and Lyle Kennedy, who recently resigned his position as manager of the Co-op store was presented with a gift.

A tasty lunch was served at the close of the evening.

Legion Auxiliary Holds Christmas Party Wednesday

An enjoyable Christmas party was that held by the Legion Auxiliary on Wednesday evening at the Legion hall. The hall was appropriately decorated in the Christmas motif for the occasion. A decorated Christmas tree was placed on the stage and those attending each brought a gift, which will be used in the Christmas baskets.

A 6:30 o'clock dinner was served in the soft illumination of candlelight with a miniature Santa Claus, sleigh, and reindeer serving as the table centerpiece. Mrs. Wm. Valind, Auxiliary president, read two Christmas articles sent in by the nation president, Mrs. Lenstar and the national rehabilitation chairman, Mrs. Merrell.

Following the dinner the business meeting was held after which contract and five hundred were played. In contract Mrs. Alfred Brusoe was first and Mrs. Eugene Noblet second. Mrs. Frank Jandro was first in 500 and Mrs. George Nebel second.

The committee in charge of the event was composed of the Mesdames Mauritz Brink, chairman, George Beaudry, B. C. Chatfield, Leslie Davis, Ed Hart, Archie Cowen, and Ed Jacobsen.

Four Escape Injury In Auto Collision

An auto driven by Mrs. Carol R. Cook, 140 North Fourth street, Manistique, and a state highway department truck driven by Andrew A. Anderson, 215 Chandler street, Menominee, were badly damaged when they collided on Highways US 2-41 just this side of the north city limits Wednesday.

Mrs. Cook was traveling south and her auto skidded on the slippery pavement as it rounded a curve, the police report shows.

None of the occupants of either machine was injured. Riding with Mrs. Cook as passengers were Mrs. Lloyd Miller, 318 Deer street, Manistique, and Mrs. Douglas Bennett, 222 Chippewa, Manistique.

ABOUT TEA

Pekoe is a grade of black tea, and not a particular brand of tea. Orange pekoe is a grade resulting from sifting the leaves through a seive with a mesh of a specific size.

Methodist Sunday School to Present Christmas Program

The Sunday school of the Methodist church will present its annual Christmas program tonight at 7 o'clock in the church.

Chime music will be used for the offertory as well as the background for many of the special recitations and songs.

The church has been attractively decorated for the occasion by a committee composed of Mrs. C. E. Fisher, Irving Pettit and Jack Burroughs.

Santa Claus will arrive shortly after the program and will give each student in the several classes a gift.

The sanctuary is beautifully decorated with neon tubes, Christmas lights, cedar and pine boughs studded with colored glass balls and Christmas ornaments and several large Christmas trees glitter with vari-colored lights and trimmings.

The gift committee is composed of Miss Lillian Vine, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Fisher, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. J. Heslip and Mrs. Russell Skellenger.

A program of Christmas carols will be played on the chimes before the opening of the Sunday school program.

In addition to the program numbers there will be special Christmas anthems by the Sunday school choir and carol singing by the entire congregation.

New York, Dec. 19 (AP)—Neither domestic nor foreign happenings provided buying inspiration for the stock market today and, on balance, the list chalked up its fifth successive losing session.

Leaders wavered from the start and, while feeble recoveries were in evidence at the close, and scattered issues were a shade improved throughout, final declines of fractions to a point or more were well in the majority.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was off .2 point at 43, putting this composite back to about where it was in September this year and in 1939. Transfers amounted to 793,030, against 779,620 the day before.

Steels did a bit better at the finish, but none of these got far out in front. Aircrafts weakened. Coppers, oils, rails, utilities and mail orders were narrow.

Backward tendencies were attributed partly to light but persistent year-end adjustments of accounts, fears next year's tax bill will be bigger than most expect, and confusing shifts in European war sectors. Scant bullishness was derived from the administrative plan to "lease" billions in armament materials to Britain. One drawback here was the thought that profit margins for manufacturers, which have been generous on foreign goods, may be trimmed substantially if congress approves the latest program and Uncle Sam takes over the paying end of the contract.

International Telephone stock was up all day as hopes continued this company would be able to conclude a sale of its Rumanian properties to that country and collect on funds "frozen" in the United States.

Carriers never made much progress but they were fairly resistant in the wake of last week's freight loading figures disclosing a less than seasonal recession. Helpful was another jump in heavy construction awards and an increase in the country's bank clearings to a new peak for the last two years.

On the losing side were shares of Douglas Aircraft, Glenn Martin, International Paper preferred, Loew's, Philip Morris, Eastman Kodak, Westinghouse, General Electric, American Smelting, Consolidated Edison, North American, J. I. Case, Texas Corp. and Chesapeake & Ohio.

U. S. Steel gained 1-8 and Bethlehem was off an equal amount. General Motors was unchanged and Chrysler up a shade. Improved were American Telephone, Standard Oil of N. J., Anaconda, Montgomery Ward, Goodyear, American Can and Corn Products.

Slipping in the curb were Aluminum of America, Brewster Aero, Glen Alden Coal, Lake Shore and United Shoe Machinery. Among firm spots were Todd Shipyards, Niagara Hudson Power and N. J. Zinc.

South America Builds New East-West Railroad

ALTHOUGH railroads have lagged behind airways in South American transport, construction of a new transcontinental line from Santos, Brazil, to Arica, Chile, will open vast productive areas of the interior to settlement and development. All but 550 miles of the line has been completed.

Chile directed attention to its state railroads with the stamp above. As the illustration shows, locomotive and railroad rolling stock are of U. S. design.

Mountains and rivers have made railroad construction difficult in the republics to the south. As early as 1890, an intercontinental system from U. S. to Argentina and Chile was proposed, and the 10,227-mile route surveyed, but the line has never been completed.

In 1925 Argentina, Chile, Bolivia and Peru were linked by rail, but this route is not direct. The shorter Transandine line, from Valparaiso, Chile, to Buenos Aires, Argentina, was damaged by flood several years ago and reconstruction has been delayed.

CHICAGO GRAIN

Chicago, Dec. 19 (AP)—An increase in the official estimate of United States 1940 wheat production, enough to indicate the possibility of a record carryover at the end of this season, had a depressing influence on prices here today, but scattered buying credited to mills steadied the market.

Wheat dipped as much as 3-4 cent at times, but rallied frequently and closed unchanged to ¼ higher compared with yesterday. Some support was attributed to dealers covering previous short sales, mostly traders obligated to deliver grain on December contracts who bought back some of these options due to approach of the Saturday deadline for trading.

Corn closed 1-8 off to 3-8 up, oats unchanged to 3-8 up; soybeans ½ to 1¼ higher; rye ½ down to 1-8 higher, and lard 3 to 15 higher.

Traders said yesterday's government report virtually "discovered" approximately 24,000,000 bushels of wheat that had not been accounted for in previous figures. They attributed the "discovery" largely to an increase in the winter wheat acreage which brought the year's total production to 816,698,000 bushels.

New York, Dec. 19 (AP)—The bond market was under selling pressure again today and, despite isolated cases of strength, prices yielded from major fractions to more than a point on the average.

Brokers could find nothing special in the news to account for the gradual but persistent fading of quotations and blamed it upon a collection of somewhat pessimistic developments the world over within recent days that might sooner or later find a direct reflection in bonds. The trend of affairs relating to war policies at Washington received much attention.

Total sales of $8,742,225, par value, compared with $10,520,300 Wednesday. Largest loser in the Associated Press averages was the rail group, off .4 point at 60.2.

Active losers included International Paper 5s at 102¾, Santa Fe 4s at 109, Cuba Northern Railwya 5½s at 18½, Delaware & Hudson 4s at 48, International Hydro Electric 6s at 46, Nickel Plate 6s at 90½ and Southern Pacific 3¾s at 45½.

International Telephone 5s went counter to the trend for the fourth day, rising 1¼ points to 37½ on sales of $279,000 par value. The 4½s added ¾ at 35¼. Recent developments affecting some of the company's foreign holdings have been received favorably.

U. S. governments rarely appeared on the tape, but most transactions were concluded at losses of 1-32 to 8-32 point.

The foreign list had some wide losers, including Denmark 6s, off 7 points at 31, and German 7s, off 1¼ at 12.

• SERIAL STORY

DUDE COLLEGE

BY OREN ARNOLD

COPYRIGHT, 1940, NEA SERVICE, INC.

YESTERDAY: Andre and Lona almost quarrel when the girl refuses to tell him where she has hidden the stolen bomb sight. Next day, Andre goes to the Bailey ranch, finds rebuilding already underway. He offers to help with furnishings, takes Ronnie to a trading post. He is particularly interested in a large drum, buys it for a friend in Mexico.

RONNIE IS IN DANGER
CHAPTER XXVIII

That Lona Montoya should deliberately kiss him was both shocking and confusing to Wesley York. In all honesty he had to admit to himself that the kiss was not unpleasant, but that had been squelched in a little flash of shame. He had turned nervously formal again and escorted her back to town. He had felt a strong urge to see Ronnie Bailey again.

But not until next morning, Saturday, could he go back to the Rocking R Ranch. He had no classes this day, so at 9 o'clock he bought three thick T-bone steaks and drove straight from the butcher shop to the ranch homesite. Workmen were busy clearing out burned debris of the house, and Mr. Bailey, supervising them, came forward to greet Wes.

"Good morning, son! Glad to see you. Want you to look over plans for the new house right away."

"Glad to, Mr. Bailey. And say—I brought out some meat. Happens I'm a real good steak barbecuer, Mr. Bailey. If you could get Fabian to let me have charge of the noon meal, why I would put some expert touches on these steaks for you and me and Ronica, sir. We could do it in the outdoors here—wonderful weather right now, isn't it?

"Perfect! Perfect all around. Only Ronnie isn't home. But don't let that interefere, son. I can eat twice as much as you think anyway. You'd never know I came west with indigestion."

Wes felt let down. He had expected—hoped—to find Ronnie here. But he knew from experience that she seldom "stayed out." She was on the go somewhere, ever and always.

"I'll get Fabian to keep the steaks on ice until noon," Wes said, trudging off.

For an hour after that he and Mr. Bailey sat at an outdoor table and checked measurements and details on plans for the new ranch house. No architect had been hired, because Mr. Bailey said he could do his own designing with friends' help, but he had contracted with a local builder who was already on the job.

Wes pointed out myriad details—he had forgotten a place for gun racks, he could use ranch branding irons for an attractive dining room chandelier, he could make a floor of cement and flagstones that would be both fireproof and patterned better than any rug he might buy, he could make a hat rack of deer and elk horns.

"You're full of ideas, son," Mr. Bailey declared, exultantly. "I hereby hire you as consultant architect. Now you must—"

"Can't hire out," Wesley grinned in thanks. "The University would fire me, sir. But I intend to build a western home of my own some day so I've given it some thought. And I'm glad to help you. A fire is a tragedy."

Mr. Bailey was suddenly serious, intent. He jabbed a pencil at Wes.

"Son," he said, in low tone now, "that fire was no accident, either!"

Wesley looked closely at him.

"No, Wesley, I don't know who did it but—whoever did had it well planned and well timed. They used that as a cover to steal the new bomb sight from one of the army planes!"

"No!"

"Yes, Wesley! The fire drew every army man over here, naturally. Some thief went right in, cut the sight off and took it away. The only hour those ships haven't been guarded since the new sight was put into them. The sight was welded and bradded down, too, of course, but that didn't stop the thief."

"And you think—?"

"No, not a clew. Of course—strictly on the quiet, now—the federal agencies are onto it. But we haven't learned a single thing!

Wesley was astounded.

He stared off into space, frowning, hardly hearing his host give the other details. He was deep in his own thoughts.

Here, shockingly, was yet another mysterious occurrence to add to the long list of unexplained incidents which crowded Wesley's mind of late, this the most important of all. Ronica knew some of those things with him, but he alone knew them all. He wished earnestly for Ronica now so that he might talk with her. Possibly together they could evolve something. He looked at his watch. Almost noon.

"Mr. Bailey, if I'm not being too inquisitive, could you tell me when I might see Ronnie? Where is she likely to be this afternoon?"

"Why son, she's headed for Mexico, I believe. Flying her plane down. Said they'd have lunch at the dude ranch where Andre is staying and take off from there about 1 p. m."

"Andre? . . . Andre?" Wes exclaimed the name tiwce.

"Why yes. You know him, Wesley. Andre Girardeau. Fine young man. He has business connections down in Guaymas on the west coast of Sonora, and Guaymas is also a resort town, as you may know. He and Ronnie and some other girl named—let me see—Lona? Is there a Lona somebody in the college here?"

"Lona Montoya!" Wes looked straight at his host. "Was she—she going too? Flying with Girardeau and Ronica? Into—Mexico?"

"Why yes. But—"

"I've got to go, Mr. Bailey! Excuse me, sir, but—well I've got to hurry! I—I—I'll explain later. I—"

He never finished. He had jumped up, half dancing in his excitement, and all at once he just ran to his car and hastened away, leaving an elderly man smiling after him and slowly shaking his head. There is no explaining the impulsive actions of youth, reflected Mr. Bailey; especially of youth when Ronnie was involved. He wondered if this quiet-mannered young professor was interested in Ronnie personally. Wouldn't mind if he was.

As for Wes, though, he broke all speed records for his old car in driving to town. And he tried to think while speeding. A lot of details needed thinking out.

He braked to a sudden stop at his home and ran to the telephone. Then he stopped short. He couldn't remember the name of the ranch where Girardeau stayed, if ever he knew it.

He tried to telephone Lona Montoya, but she was out.

Back to his car, he drove fast then to the office of the United States Border Patrol in this area, and luckily did find Inspector Sheridan Starr there.

"Howdy, Dr. York," the officer greeted. "You look excited."

"Listen, Mr. Starr—it's nearly one o'clock now. Can we—is—is the Patrol autogiro plane around? Near here? Is—?"

"It's out 10 miles or so, out near The Tanks where we keep field stables also. You know the place. There's a pilot there, and—"

"Then for God's sakes, Mr. Starr, let's hurry! Come on—I can tell you about it while we're on our way!"

Running with the officer, Wes felt like sobbing as a frantic boy might do. He knew, without the necessity of reasoning now, that Ronnie Bailey was in grave danger; and he knew he loved Ronnie Bailey better than everything eles in this world.

ON THE RECORD

By DOROTHY THOMPSON

RELIEF OR LIBERATION

Mr. Hoover's plan for food relief for the countries subjugated by Hitler has this appeal: It gives us another opportunity to salve our consciences by means that entail no risk and no responsibility for any of the major problems of our world.

It has the additional feature that certain producers are offered a chance to make money on it. For no one has proposed that we tax ourselves to feed the captive peoples. It is merely proposed that we impress our government to unfreeze the assets of these countries that are here, so that they can buy food — at the usual profit — from American producers. For heaven's sake, let us call a spade a spade. This is no great humanitarian effort at all. It's a trade deal.

Dorothy Thompson

Precisely for that reason it will be completely futile. The peoples of Europe, the peoples of the Western World, the members of our own civilization, the co-custodians of our common culture, are bound, gagged, tied, and struggling for liberation.

It is because they are bound, gagged, and tied, that they are also hungering. The French peasant does not need our pigs; he needs his own pigs that German looters are taking away from him. The Norwegian peasant dosen't need our fish. He needs his own fish that are being stolen from him. The Danish peasant doesn't need our butter. He needs his own butter. The Dutch people don't need our milk. They need the milk their farmers produce. What all of them need is not food, but a knife to cut their bonds.

In all the world today, only one people, the British, are trying to cut those bonds and set these people free. And the only thing on the whole round green earth that we can do to help these peoples and ourselves is to help them to get free.

The British are doing what they do because they know that they, the British people, will either live as civilized people in a civilized world or they will become slaves in a moronic world, just as the others have become.

Food or the lack of it is a secondary consideration. The British people themselves are living like wild animals burrowed in caves. Every day of their lives their children are being killed, their homes razed, their great national monuments destroyed.

They also are being blockaded, and the utmost effort is being made on the part of a power of eighty millions of people in possession of most of Europe to starve them to death. But our humanitarians are not suggesting that we break the German blockade of Britain. Not at all. And why? Because it might be dangerous.

What is at stake is nothing more or less than the future of civilized values as we have interpreted them for two thousands years. This war is not a war in any usual sense of the word. It is merely the instrument of a movement whose aim is to destroy the values that all civilized persons cherish: the values contained in the concept "The Christian Era" and in the phrase "Humanitarian Culture." Both have managed to survive, with periodic interruption and in spite of great changes since the days of St. Paul and the days of Pericles.

In the mundane sense, the essential concept of the Christian era is that we are all members one of another, and that there is a universal humanity. The fact that we have never given more than Sunday-service to this ideal does not eliminate it. Even the Sunday service given in the West to the Christian ethic has created one of the few inhibitions against mutual annihilation under jungle law.

The Nazis are against the Christian ethic. It cramps their style, and they make a hierarchy of humanity from sub-humans to humans to masters. To all Jews they deny any humanity at all: to all Poles they grant the sub-humanity of slavery, and so forth. And we are asked to believe that any Wolfgang Schmidt with peroxided hair and a Pomeranian pedigree howling Seig Heils in the physics class is a greater man than Einstein, and that any pure-blooded Teutonic composer of the last Nazi marching song is a greater man than Chopin. Once all civilized men would snort; today too many of us don't.

Not only is the concept un-Christian but it is profoundly uncivilized. The essence of humanistic culture is that men—or that part of them that justify the now somewhat doubtful theory that man has been made a little higher than the animals—are thinking creatures, possessed also of sensibility and intuition and the power to reason, and by means of these, plus experience, and conscience, to control themselves and the world around them.

Not according to the Nazis. Thinking is "intellectualism" not at all in vogue in the Third Reich. De facto if not de jure, not only are the modern skeptics banned, but so are Aristotle, the New Testament, St. Thomas Aquinas, Montesquieu, the theory of relativity, Adam Smith and Abraham Lincoln—just to pick at random; while de jure if not de facto, so are the discoverers of salvarsan and the cause of puerperal fever. This assault on all the values of the past is called revolution. It is not. It is nihilism.

Our Communist brethren, with the repetition of the idee fixe, keep on howling about "the imperialist war," and Yale students, who are much more willing to listen to Colonel Lindbergh than read St. Thomas Aquinas or the politics of Aristotle as aids to a larger view of the issues at stake, come to terms with the idea that an "epoch is finished." It certainly is. But the end of an epoch ought not to mean the end of a world. And what Britain is fighting for is simply for a world, regardless of how changed and reorganized, that can be justified in reason and humanity. It may seem quixotic to be willing to die for the right of our children to read Lincoln and believe that he surpasses Goering in political wisdom.

It may seem ridiculously reactionary to be willing to die for the idea that the thirteenth chapter of First Corinthians is better than the second chapter of "Mein Kampf."

It may seem simply idiotic to risk one's life for the thesis that Renoir is a better painter than Hitler himself.

But I, personally, cannot think of anything better worth fighting for and dying for. The gamut of what the Nazis hate happens to include everything our ancestors ever did to justify their lives, and everything we can think of handing on to our children, as background for a personal and social philosophy. I don't expect my boy to inherit an income, but I would like him to inherit a library uncensored by Dr. Goebbels.

And I am not prepared to lift a finger to make it easier for these fellows. The wretchedness of Europe is not due to lost wars; it is due to policy.

The Nazis did not herd three hundred thousand people into the space of a hundred city blocks in Warsaw and build a concrete wall around them because there was a food and shelter shortage. They did it because they wish to exterminate these people.

If any one can devise a way whereby food may become an instrument of rebellion I'll join the movement. But you know and I know that if relief should bolster in any way the morale of the subjugated peoples against their subjectors the Nazis would shut it down. They know as well as we do that food could be a weapon for democracy, but they will make that weapon ineffective. And if we should choose to use it as such we would be engaging in direct and revolutionary intervention all over Europe on a grand scale.

But there is no such proposal. Again I say what is proposed is a trade deal.

The only thing we can do for the subject peoples is to do what we must do for ourselves—arm, arm, arm speedily, efficiently, sacrificially and back up Britain in every way; first, in her all-out effort to break the Nazi drive for a world-wide master-hegemony, and, second, in a program to establish a real new order based on the co-operative use of all resources, once the Nazi program has been halted.

We should begin thinking about that new order, knowing that there is not going to be any easy way out, and certainly no way out by which we shall make money.

P. T. A. Meeting

The Rock River P. T. A. meeting scheduled for Wednesday evening, December 18, was held Tuesday, December 17, instead. The meeting was opened by Mrs. Rose Johnson, P. T. A. president with the singing of a Christmas carol by those present, followed by reading of the minutes of the previous meeting by Mrs. J. G. Wells, secretary. Mr. Eino Luoma gave the treasurer's report and Supt. William T. MacNeil, reporting for the finance committe, announced that a card party would be given by the P. T. A. during February to raise funds for the treasury.

At the last meeting the suggestion made by Mrs. Frank Stuer, Sr., to purchase a loud speaker for the Hippodrome was tabled and left as unfinished business. It was suggested at this meeting that because of lack of P. T. A. funds the P. T. A. should not purchase the loud speaker, but should, instead, approach the Rock River Township Board of Education in regard to its purchasing the loud speaker with board of education funds or making a donation towards its purchase price and soliciting the balance from organizations, who are permitted the use of the building. This suggestion was put in the form of a motion by Mrs. Frank Stuer, Sr., and seconded by Mrs. Jacob Harsila. A committee composed of Mr. Louis Mikulich and Mr. Eino Luoma was appointed to make arrangements with Mr. Eli Lampi to demonstrate his loud speaker at the Hippodrome Thursday evening at the Christmas program to determine how much value would be attached to the installation of such a speaker.

The question of supplying milk to under-nourished children during the coming year was brought up for discussion, and it was moved by Mrs. Toivo Kallio and seconded by Mrs. VernRichmond that the grade school teachers determine the number of undernourished children not receiving milk at home in the Chatham and Eben grade schools, and that the P. T. A. supply milk for such children during the month of January.

Two announcements were made by Mr. MacNeil:

That the drinking water at the Eben and Chatham schools has been tested and declared safe for all purposes.

That a new NYA library project has been started which enables the high school library to have a librarian functioning for eight hours each school day, so that pupils may select their own books, instead of calling for them at the desk, and so that pupils may draw books during any school hour during the day, instead of at only certain limited times.

The following program was presented by the program committee composed of Mrs. William MacNeil, chairman; Miss Eleanore Stenstrom, and Mrs. J. G. Wells;

Story of Christmas Carols—Gladys Mikulich, followed by community singing of carols led by nine members of the high school Glee Club.

Christmas Monologue—Theresa Knaus.

Piano Solo—"Silent Night"—Elsie Sautter.

Monologue—Edythe Michelson.

Reading—"Two Pictures"—Audrey Stuer.

Community singing of Christmas carols closed the program. Lunch was served in the homemaking room. Committee members in charge were: Mrs. Oscar Nelson, chairman; Mrs. Anne Pittsley, Mrs. Conrad Swanberg, Mrs. Hilda Trelford, Mrs. William Matthews, Mrs. Carl Cristofferson, and Mrs. Jacob Harsila.

The next meeting of the P. T. A. will be held Thursday evening, January 16. The following members were appointed to the program committe: Mrs. Leroy Webster, Mrs. Toivo Kallio, and Miss Genevieve Harrington. Members of the lunch committee are: Mrs. Louise Flack, Miss Sadie Luoma, Mrs. Onen Pantti, Mrs. Donald Hakala, Mrs. Albert Sautter, and Mrs. Earle Brown.

Gets Eagle Palms

Robert Hentschell, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Hentschell, was awarded the gold and silver eagle palms at the Boy Scout court of honor here Wednesday night. The silver palm is the highest rank in scout achievement.

COUNTY DRAFT QUOTA IS SIX

Men Will Be Inducted At Escanaba January 7, Board Reports

The Schoolcraft county draft board yesterday received official notification that the county's quota of draftees for the January induction has been set at six men.

The draftees selected will leave Manistique January 6 and will be inducted into the army at Escanaba on the morning of January 7.

Twelve men have been notified to report for physical examination and the selectees will be taken from this group and the men who passed the physical examination for the first induction group last month.

An average of 40 per cent of the men who have taken the physical examination for army service in Michigan to date have been rejected because of failure to meet the requirements. Many of them were rejected because of insufficient number of teeth, reports indicated.

Of the men who passed the physical examination of their own localities, 19 per cent were rejected at the induction centers, either for physical or other causes.

Persons desiring to enlist in the army for one year periods under the selective service law may do so by reporting to the local draft board. They will be inducted into service, if they pass the physical requirements, ahead of those in line to go by virtue of low order numbers.

Local School On Accredited List

The Manistique high school has again been placed on the accredited list of the University of Michigan for a three year period, ending June 30, 1944, the school authorities were notified yesterday. Official notification was received from George E. Carrothers, secretary of the university committee on relations with secondary schools.

BURNING IMPRESSION OF WAR

London, Eng. (U.P.)—Councillor James Pressnail of the Chatham, Kent, town council, created a "burning impression" on other members. Taking a 5 note from his pocket and setting light to it, he declared: "Look at it—flames, smoke, ashes, dust. That is what your money will be if England falls."

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you. 12-19

The preliminary game between the Eskymo seconds and the junior high school squad, will not begin until 8:15 and will be strictly a Bill Puckelwartz affair. Coach Puckelwartz tutors both the teams.

Besides the regulars shown above in the starting lineups, Dick Bliss, Bob Craig, Francis Pryal, Al Kidd and Mart Sviland may have a chance to perform tonight against the Hematites.

Coach C. C. Watson's boys have beaten Munising, have lost to Stambaugh so far this season; the Eskymos have vanquished St. Joseph's, Marquette, Kingsford and Iron Mountain.

NYA Is Decorating City For Christmas

St. Ignace, Mich. — Eighteen Mackinac county youths, working as a local unit of the National Youth Administration, are building a handsome background for community Christmas spirit at the old municipal building here, under the personal supervision of Mayor Edward Glashaw.

State street in the city's business section will be decorated from end to end with big evergreen wreaths on the boulevard lights, the material having been collected by the boys in the neighboring woods. The new city hall is being adorned with trees and a greenery arch at the main entrance, and evergreen ropes are being used profusely in connection with an appropriate holiday greeting The Gateway City will be one of Michigan's prettiest spots at holiday time.

NYA forces have constructed rustic signs for every street corner in St Ignace, and they are being installed as rapidly as possible. The group has an excellent assortment of power and hand tools, and several of the boys have become fairly expert in their use.

CADETS' COACH GOES TO TEXAS

Captain Wood Ordered to Active Duty At Fort Bliss

West Point, N. Y., Dec. 19. (AP)—Capt. William H. Wood, head football coach at the Army for the last three years, today was ordered by the war department to duty at Ft. Bliss, Texas.

Lieut. Col. Louis E. Hibbs, graduate manager of athletics who made the announcement, said the poor showing of the Army team last fall had no bearing on the transfer. The Cadets beat only Williams and tied Harvard while losing to Cornell, Lafayette, Notre Dame, Brown, Penn, Princeton and Navy for their poorest season in 51 years of football.

Last year the Cadets won three, lost four and tied two while in 1938, the first year under Capt. Wood's direction, they won eight and lost only two.

The war department ordered Capt. Wood to sail on a transport for San Francisco Feb. 6 and then motor to the Texas station.

Several names were mentioned as the successor to Capt. Wood, among them civilians, but Col. Hibbs said "our athletic board has made no decision as yet."

Four less working days resulted in a drop in upper peninsula bank debits last month of $5,163,000 from the previous month's total of $28,706,000. The November total was $23,543,000.

Newberry Quintet Clashes With St. Ignace 5 Tonight

Newberry, Mich.—After losing their first game in four starts, to the Negaunee Miners last week, the Newberry high school basketball team will be out to avenge the defeat, when they meet the St. Ignace quintet Friday night, for their last home performance until January 10, when they meet Manistique.

Following the game with Manistique, the Indians will begin a tough road schedule, playing the strong Sault team on Jan. 17, the following week they will travel to Marquette to play John D. Pierce on Friday and Eben on Saturday. On January 31 they go to Gwinn, on February 1 to Marquette, then on February 7 they play Munising. On February 8 the Indians will be back at their home court to play the Pickford quintet in a return engagement.

AGGIES STUDY FORDHAM PLAY

Big Test Comes Jan. 1 In Cotton Bowl At Dallas

College Station, Texas, Dec. 19 (AP)—Seven sturdy Texans, known hither and yon as the stringiest line in college football, worked in the rain and chil today on a problem that is theirs to solve, come New Year's Day.

For two years now the Texas Aggies have rated as the nation's top defensive team. The big test comes Jan. 1, against Fordham University in the Dallas Cotton Bowl game.

Once more the Aggies will encounter a solid Notre Dame offense—somewhat of a rarity in an Aggie lineman's life.

Coach Homer Norton reviewed past experiences against Irish offensives in a talk with his boys today. Norton didn't stress the point with his players, but a little research and prodding from the mentor revealed that the Aggies' success against Notre Dame stuff has touched on brilliance.

Last season the Cadets walloped Villanova 33-7, and took in Santa Clara 7-0. This season they encountered the dancing Irish shifts twice and came out 41-6 victors over Tulsa and 26-0 winners over stout little Texas A. and I.

The great senior line that last season established a new all-time record for college football by holding ten opponents to a net gain of 67 yards per game by rushing and passing, and again ranked as the top defensive team against rushing this season with a stunning "hold 'em Yale" average of 44.3 yards, went out in the rain to work against Fordham—or Notre Dame—plays worked by reserves.

BASEBALL BOYS TO HONOR QUINN

Bees President Listed for His Contribution to the Sport

BY GAYLE TALBOT

New York, Dec. 19, (AP)—Bob Quinn, 70-year-old president of the Boston Bees and one of the beloved patriarchs of baseball, will be honored this winter by the New York baseball writers with their 11th annual award for the person making the finest contribution to the sport over a long period of years.

The award, announced today, will be made to the white-haired, crickety veteran at the annual dinner of the chapter Feb. 2.

Quinn's contribution to baseball has been a merry as well as a valuable one since he began his career managing the Columbus club at the turn of the century.

Goofy Business

"Baseball's really a goofy business, but I like it," he once was quoted as saying. "It's been keeping me young for years."

Quinn was at Columbus 17 years before the late Phil Ball brought him into the big leagues as vice president and general manager of the St. Louis Browns. Once during his long, stormy stretch in that job, Ball complained to a friend: "That Irishman has never agreed with me on anything yet."

When Ball offered Quinn the job, he wrote: "I'm holding it myself at present, and it seems to be mainly bunk and bluff." To which Quinn replied starchily: "In my long baseball experience I've never had a job of bunk and bluff. I claim no qualification for such a job. I'm not the man you want." Ball composed another letter.

Quinn's jump from St. Louis was a disastrous one. He purchased the Boston Red Sox, and by the time the club was sold to Tom Yawkey in 1932 Quinn was cleaned out. During the losing financial struggle he walked into a bank and borrowed $350,000 "on his face."

Age No Worry

But "Old Bob" was far from beaten. After a year with Reading in the minors, he came back as business manager at Brooklyn. In 1936, when the Boston Braves' franchise was tossed into the National league's unwilling lap, Quinn was the magnate's first and last choice to take command.

To the comment that he was a glutton for punishment in taking over his present outfit, Quinn replied: "I've never had a club handed to me yet that wasn't shot."

Quinn has had no money to work with at Boston, so he has experimented with notable results. When he could make no deals for established players to start the 1937 season he came up with a set of ageing minor leaguers. Yet two of them, Lou Fette and Jim Turner, each won 20 games that year.

Lately he has gone to the opposite extreme, and now the Bees are the youngest outfit in either big league. They average only about 25. Two of them, Eddie Miller and Max West, are worth important money.

"I never worry about a man's age," Quinn says. "It's what he can do and how much he knows."

COACH OF YEAR IS SHAUGHNESSY

Poll of New York Paper Puts Bierman Second; Crisler Rates High

New York, Dec. 19 (AP)—Clark D. Shaughnessy, who guided Stanford's football team to an undefeated season and into the Rose Bowl, was named the coach of the year tonight by the New York World-Telegram.

Shaughnessy's success in his first year as coach of the Indians after they had finished in the Pacific Coast conference cellar in 1939, earned him 253 first-place votes out of the 365 cast by head coaches of college football teams. In point scoring on a 5-3-1 basis, his total of 1,423 left other coaches far behind.

Bernie Bierman of Minnesota's Big Ten champions was second with 33 votes for first place and a total of 336. Frank Leahy of Boston College was third, polling 18 first-place votes and a total of 238. Other coaches who received more than 100 votes were Fritz Crisler, Michigan, with 162; Hover Norton, Texas Aggies, with 130 and Carl Snavely, Cornell, with 109.

Nebraska Players, 38 Strong, Start Rose Bowl Jaunt

Lincoln, Neb., Dec. 19 (AP)—Thirty-eight University of Nebraska football players answered the call "all aboard" tonight as the train carrying them westward to the New Year's Day Rose Bowl engagement with Stanford left Lincoln.

The Huskers are headed for Phoenix, Ariz., where they will drill for nine days, then move on to Pasadena.

A crowd of 2,000 and the University band gathered at the station to bid the team goodby.

Today's Sport Parade

by

HENRY McLEMORE

United Press Staff Correspondent

Los Angeles, Dec. 18 (UP)—There is something about owning a race horse that affects a man's judgment to such an extent that it is doubtful if even a supreme court justice could own one and still retain his full powers of reasoning.

Give a justice a sway-backed colt with bowed tendons and the hiccoughs and the chances are he'd back it, at even money, against Challendon and go around telling his friends to just wait until next May and they'd see his silks come home in front in Louisville.

If this isn't true, how in the world can you explain the nearly 100 nominations that have been made for the next running of the $100,000 Santa Anita Handicap in March? I was looking over the list of horses named for that race today (in view of sending Uncle Clabe a $2 winter book ticket on a 1000 to 1 shot as a Christmas present) and you never saw such a collection of chaff and wheat, goats and sheep, buckshot and caviar in your life.

Fugitives From Plow

For every horse entered who has a chance to win the race, there are ten fugitives from the plow, milk wagon, truck farm, and antique shop. You can understand an owner entering a horse just for the thrill of seeing his silks pass by in the parade to the post, but there are horses entered for the handicap (just as there are for all the rich stakes) whose only chance of getting to the post without breaking down would be for the jockeys to lead them and bait them along with carrots and lump sugar.

Why are owners this way? Why do they throw away their money? It costs in the neighborhood of $1,000 to send a horse to the gate in the Handicap, and that's a nice neighborhood.

Having never owned a horse myself, and therefore being unable to answer my own question, I turned to a couple of Hollywood turfmen for the answer—Bing Crosby and Dave Butler.

Crosby was practicing chip shots at the Lakeside club when I queried him.

"A man's pride in his own judgment is the answer, I believe," Bing said. "The owner is the one responsible for the purchase of the horse and he just hates to admit that he was wrong. So he strings along with him even after everybody else knows the horse can't run a lick. Take me with High Strike and Sabueso. I stayed with them long after it was evident to everyone else that they couldn't beat a fat man out of the front door. And there's another angle that accounts for an owner hanging on when everybody else has given up. That's the natural liking for a horse a fellow gets. When a horse has been eating out of your hand for a year or two, and muzzling you when you enter his barn, well, he becomes a sort of friend and you don't quit on friends, do you?"

Own One and See

Director Butler, who did the fine picture Kentucky and who knows as much about horseflesh as anyone in these parts, wasn't at all surprised by my question.

"Hell, you just own a horse once and see what happens," he said. "In the first place, the trainer gives you a line of talk that convinces you the horse has the possibilities of a Man O' War. If it takes him two minutes to run a mile the trainer says he is bringing him along slowly or that he will find himself in a week or two, or that he can't hurry him in his work with a rich stake still two months off. Soon you begin to believe that your horse is a potential Santa Anita winner that needs only a little time and a little luck to win a fortune. Then, there is the outside chance that all the good horses will drop out and that your horse will be dropped in there with his own class of dogs to beat. There are very few men who can resist a 100 to 1 shot. And that goes double when the long-shot belongs to you."

There's your answer for the 100 to 1 shots. A mighty good answer, too, because I just played one in the winter books.

Zivic Favored Over Jenkins Tonight In Non-Title Contest

New York, Dec. 19 (AP)—By any way you add it up, including algrebra and the finger-counting system, Fritzie Zivic figures to take good care of Lew Jenkins in Madison Square Garden tomorrow night—except that one of Lew's punches might connect.

Fritzie is welterweight champion of the world, and, as such, will have a ten-pound weight pull over the lightweight boss from Texas when they go to work at 10 p. m. (EST) in their ten-round non-title tussle.

Fritzie recently dethroned Henry Armstrong as head man among the 147-pounders, not long after "the Hammer" had stopped Texas Lew.

MICHIGAN EASY FOR THE IRISH

Notre Dame Cagers Lead All the Way, Take Game 37 to 27

South Bend, Ind., Dec. 19 (AP)—The Notre Dame basketball team found the going easy tonight against Michigan and led all the way to win, 37-27. The Irish enjoyed a 21-11 margin at the half.

Michigan's superior height was offset by aggressive play by Ed Riska, Larry Ryan and Cy Singer, who continually drove under the bucket to capture rebounds and deprive their lankier rivals of sucker shots.

Capt. Ed Riska paced the Irish offense with 12 points, while Jack Mandler fired 10 points through the net for the Wolverines. The game was rough in spots, a total of 33 personal fouls being assessed.

The victory was the fourth in five starts for Notre Dame this season and marked the first defeat in three contests for Michigan. In the all-time series between the schools Michigan still retains a 4-2 margin.

EMERALDS GO TO NEGAUNEE

Manistique Quint Faces Miners In Pre-Holiday Clash

Manistique — The Manistique high school basketball team will leave at one o'clock today for Negaunee, where they will oppose Coach Shadford's Miners tonight in the final pre-holiday game.

The Emeralds will have only eight men available for action against Negaunee tonight, with Chartier and H. Gilroy out of service for the week. The starting lineup will consist of Norton and D. Gilroy, at forwards; Asp at center, Hellsten and Hastings, guards. Peterson, guard, has been ill all week, but will make the trip. Rushford and Holm will complete the squad.

Last week Negaunee trimmed Newberry, 36 to 30, but lost to the crack Soo quintet Saturday night.

Following tonight's battle, the Emeralds will have a week's vacation before resuming training for the Newberry game, which will be played here January 10.

WIN WANTED BY GLADSTONE

Team Travels to Alger County Seat Tonight to Tackle Mathers

Gladstone, Mich. — Rarin' to get back in the win column after being nosed out in a two-overtime period thriller by Manistique last wek-end, Gladstone high school cagers will travel to Munising where tonight they will wind up the pre-Christmas portion of their schedule.

Preparation for the battle with the Alger county quint was wound up last night with warm-ups and shooting practice.

In the starting lineup tonight Coach Eldon Keil is expected to use B. Olson and Holm at forward, Capt. Fisher at center and Ed Johnson and either Besson or Marble at guard.

ON LOSING END

Munising, Dec. 19—Munising's Mather high school basketball crew will make another try for victory here tomorrow night when they clash with the Gladstone quintet. The main game will start at 8:15 with the preliminary starting at 7 o'clock between the Munising B quintet and a picked high school band.

The Munising quintet so far this season have been on the short end of the score in all three of their contests. The Marquette Graveraet squad, the Newberry five and Ishpeming's crew all have defeated them. Coach Bob Villemure last week was pleased with the showing his cagers made against Coach Watson's five when they lost an 18-15 battle after a strong final quarter. The game was fast and the Mather mentor said that he saw a great deal of improvement over the team's showing in the tilt with Newberry.

Gladstone last week lost a slow game to the Manistique five, 26-24, after playing two overtime periods. The Keilmen showed their strength in a previous encounter, however, when they downed the St. Joseph's five of Escanaba by a 31-15 score.

Coach Bob Villemure will probably start Parks at center, Steinhoff and Zastrow at forward and Floria and Maki at guard. This will give Villemure four sophomores and a junior, Steinhoff, in the starting line-up.

Cooks, Rapid River Will Clash Tonight

Rapid River—Rapid River will seek its third win tonight when they meet the Cooks high school cagers on their home floor tonight, at 8 o'clock.

Rapid has won two, lost four games, so far this season.

Reserves of both schools will clash in a preliminary at 7 o'clock.

Leo Brunelle will referee the main event.

Rapid River's new electric score board will be used for the first time this season tonight. The board indicates the score, the period and time left in each period as the game progresses.

NEW SALES TAX RULE OUTLINED

Industrial Processing Exemptions Covered In Compromise

Lansing, Dec. 19. (AP)—The state board of tax administration agreed today to redefine a rule covering sales tax exemptions for items used in industrial processing.

Auditor General Vernon J. Brown, chairman, said the new rule would be a compromise between the long-standing rule 40 and a new one submitted last week by Herbert J. Rushton, managing director of the board.

Rule 40, Brown said, confines the tax to "intangible personal property which becomes a structural part of real estate. He said Rushton's rule held that "all things consumed in a manufacturing process or machinery used in that process are exempt and nothing else is."

The new ruling will be drafted in about a week, Brown said.

The legislature will be asked to define more clearly the "agricultural production and commercial advertising" exemptions, Brown said earlier.

Sales included in these classifications, Brown said, amount to $100,000,000 annually and would produce $3,000,000 if subject to sales taxes.

The question of whether certain sales belong in those categories has caused confusion, Brown and Walter F. Reddy, deputy managing director of the board, asserted.

A ruling of the board, Brown pointed out, exempts from sales tax any purchases which become a "component part of the finished product," leaving a wide field for interpretation.

A proposal that the sales tax law be strengthened by providing prison sentences for violators was opposed by Brown, who said under present regulations the board could "drive a violator out of business."

New Intangible Tax Staff Is Organized

Lansing, Dec. 19 (AP)—Melville B. McPherson, chairman of the state tax commission, said he would organize Monday a new division to handle the intangible tax collections, which begin January 1.

Joseph H. Creighton, executive secretary to Governor Dickinson and a former capitol newspaperman, will become office manager of the new division, McPherson said. Other employes will be chosen from civil service rolls.

McPherson estimated that the law will produce upwards of $4,000,000 in revenue, two-thirds of which will be returned to local governmental units.

Hitler Specialists Arriving In Rome

London, Dec. 19 (AP)—The British Broadcasting Corporation, quoting a "neutral observer" in Rome, said tonight large numbers of German anti-aircraft gunners and other German army units described as "specialists" have arrived in Rome.

Italian officers told the neutral observer, the BBC said, that "these arrivals are the beginning of a German attempt to reduce Italy from the status of an ally to that of a vassal."

Crippled Children's Aid To Be Boosted By Governor-Elect

Lansing, Dec. 19 (AP)—Murray D. Van Wagoner, governor-elect, said today his administration would press the state aid to crippled and afflicted children program, regardless of budget balancing.

He said he could not accept a theory that the crippled children commission should be required to live within a budget fixed by legislative enactment, but that he would insist on a "filter" group to weed out "chiselers" who might seek state assistance.

The governor-elect said he was studying the state hospital commission's report that Michigan has treated its mental patients harshly through insufficient appropriations, and that he concurred in the statements of William J. Norton, a commission member, that conditions in the hospitals should be improved.

He said he would recommend a system of out-patient clinics to prevent insanity, and the placement of nearly recovered patients in boarding homes to make room in overcrowded hospitals for those who should be committed. The state hospital commission reported it has a long waiting list of mental cases but lacks facilities to care for them.

Message January 3

He said he would discuss his plans in detail in his message to the legislature January 3.

Van Wagoner conferred with a group of Democratic county chairmen and informed them patronage would be light, in view of the new civil service amendment. He said he told the group appointments to jobs not covered by civil service would be made on a merit basis, but that Democrats would have the first call.

The governor-elect said one new face would appear on the liquor control commission, but declined to say whom he would appoint.

He indicated he would confer tomorrow with a legislative study commission drafting bills to consolidate tax collecting agencies. He said his ideas on the subject of a finance department would be made clear in the message to the legislature, but pointed out he had advocated such a step in his campaign speeches.

ROGGE RESIGNS AS PROSECUTOR

Chief of Justice Staff Criminal Division Leaves Capital

Washington, Dec. 19, (AP)—O. John Rogge has resigned the justice department job in which Attorney General Jackson said he was a "fearless prosecutor."

Jackson announced today that Rogge had stepped out as chief of the department's criminal division and would become a special counsel for trustees of Associated Gas and Electric company. The company is the central unit of the billion dollar system which went into bankruptcy early this year.

Among cases in which Rogge gained national attention was the prosecution of public officials in Louisiana connected with the political organization of the late Senator Huey Long.

Jackson said Wendell Berge, first assistant to Thurman Arnold, assistant attorney general in charge of the criminal division. It was understood Berge would be nominated for the position at the expiration of Rogge's leave.

Hugh B. Cox, chief of the anti-trust division appellate section, was appointed to succeed Berge as Arnold's assistant.

Berge, who presumably will handle the government's mail fraud cases against Frank D. McKay and others in Michigan, is a 1927 law graduate of the University of Michigan.
